Soviet Parades Huge New Rockets

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union paraded huge new rockets through Red Square today under the eyes of the world's top communist leaders here to celebrate the Bolshevik Revolution's 47th anniversary.

The Soviet military trundled five new types of rockets out of its secret armories — one of them the biggest ever shown publicly in the Soviet Union.

A television commentator called the huge weapon a "younger sister" of the rocket power plant that hurled the first three-man space ship into orbit last month.

But the appearance of the world's Communist leaders together atop Lenin's Red Square tomb failed to dispel the shadow cast by the ideological dispute with Peking.

Presiding over the festivities marking the Bolshevik Revolution was the Kremlin's new Communist party chief, Leonid Brezhnev, surrounded by top figures in Russia's new "collective leadership."

Standing with Brezhnev were Premier Alexei Kosygin, President Anastas Mikoyan and other Soviet luminaries.

Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai and his delegation from Peking, which demands a hard line toward the West, looked on while a "peaceful coexistence" soft-line which apparently continues as policy of the new Kremlin leaders was delivered by Defense Minister Rodion Y. Malinovsky.

Marshal Malinovsky, who spoke after reviewing crack military units drawn up in parade formation in front of the Kremlin, stressed that the Soviet Communist party "is actively and consistently promoting a Leninist peace-loving foreign policy, a policy of peaceful coexistence of states with different social systems."

He added to his mention of the Soviet Union's dedication to "peaceful coexistence," a warning about the danger of "imperialist policies of aggression."

Because of this, he said, "the Communist party and the Soviet people are displaying constant concern for the further strengthening of the USSR's military might, for equipping the army and the navy with the most modern means of warfare."

Brezhnev shared the spotlight atop Lenin's marble tomb with Chou, whose visit indicated joint Soviet-Chinese attempts to ease their intramural struggle for primacy in the Communist movement.

Chou and the rest of his Peking delegation have made it clear, however, that past troubles are not forgotten and that the Chinese will settle for no less than a militant attitude toward the United States and the rest of the Western world.

Chou backhanded his Soviet hosts on two occasions Friday, casting a chill on the proceedings that matched the 26-degree weather in Moscow.

First, he paid homage to Joseph Stalin at the simple grave to which he was shifted in 1961 during Nikita Khrushchev's de-Stalinization campaign.

A short time later Chou withheld applause during a speech in which Brezhnev called for "a new international meeting of the fraternal parties."

Peking radio, in a broadcast just prior to the Kremlin meeting, called for Red unity against "imperialism headed by the United States."

Flanking Brezhnev and Chou today were leaders from the rest of the Communist camp. For reasons not immediately apparent to Western observers, Poland's Communist boss, Wladyslaw Gomulka, was accorded a special place of honor.

Western observers spotted five new additions to this year's display of Soviet military hardware.

They were two groups of what appeared to be free-flight field artillery weapons, a high-altitude anti-aircraft weapon and two surface-to-surface rockets — one of them about 85 feet long and 10-12 feet in diameter.

A Tass description of the anti-aircraft missiles said they can "destroy any fast-flying targets in the air, no matter if they fly at high or low altitudes, regardless of the time of year, day or night, in rain, snow and fog." It said they also were protected against radio countermeasures.

The huge 85-foot rocket brought up the rear of the parade. It was towed by a special tractor, but there appeared to be no equipment for hoisting and firing. The light carriage indicated it was riding without fuel — indicating it would be liquid fueled.

Leaders of the Red-ruled world were meeting privately with the new Kremlin command before and after the parade. For some it was the first session with Soviet leaders since Khrushchev was ousted Oct. 14.

Official announcements indicated Brezhnev was seeing the visiting chiefs individually and not using the revolution anniversary for a full-scale Red summit.

Goldwater Urges Burch Be Retained As GOP Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater, returning to the capital for the first time since his presidential bid was shattered, has urged retention of Dean Burch as Republican national chairman, despite cries from GOP moderates for Burch's scalp.

"My recommendation would be to keep him because for the first time in memory we finished the campaign in the black," Goldwater told an airport news conference Friday on his arrival from Phoenix.

The GOP presidential nominee, who carried only six states in Tuesday's election, added that Burch, whom he had selected for the job as chairman, had done a "very, very commendable job."

Goldwater urged a thorough analysis of the election returns and said the GOP would be wrong "going off half-cocked before that is done."

Burch said he would call a meeting of the GOP National Committee after the first of the year to discuss "all questions of interest to the party, including that of my chairmanship."

"I seek to lead, not to dictate, and I will continue that leadership as long as the Republican party wants me to."

Asked what would be the effect if the National Committee refused to give him a vote of confidence, Burch said "it would be rather hobbling."

Praise for Goldwater came, meanwhile, from former GOP Rep. John Rousset of California, who said the Arizona senator "has been willing to fight for a strong, conservative position and is to be congratulated for articulating it so well."

Rousset is director of public relations for the John Birch Society.

Qualified support for retaining Burch came from Michigan Republican Chairman Arthur Elliott Jr., who said in a statement that "I do not agree with those who insist upon the immediate resignation of our national chairman without giving him an opportunity to contribute his plans to guide our party in the months ahead."

On Wednesday Michigan GOP National Committeeman John Martin called for Burch's resignation.

Elliott said all Republicans, including conservatives, should have an equal voice in making future GOP plans and programs.

There were new calls for Burch's ouster.

Wisconsin GOP Chairman Talbot Peterson suggested former Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the job. Nixon said Thursday he would not seek the post nor encourage those who support him for it.

Peterson said Goldwater's landslide drubbing at the hands of Republican Johnson had caused the defeat of a number of Republican hopefuls, including Wilbur Renk, an Eisenhower moderate who was defeated for the Senate in Wisconsin.

Virginia's Republican National Committeewoman, Hazel K. Barger of Roanoke, said Goldwater, Burch "and the whole Goldwater crew of ultraconservatives will have to resign."

And Rep. Delbert L. Latta, R-Ohio, proposed Ohio GOP chairman Ray Bliss, one of the per-

Battle Lines Form In Struggle For Union Presidency

3 Powerful USW District Heads In Ohio Throw Support To Abel

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Battle lines were forming today in a power struggle for control of the big United Steelworkers Union.

I. W. Abel, USW secretary-treasurer, virtually unknown to the general public, announced Friday he'll try to wrest the union presidency from David J. McDonald in the union election Feb. 12.

Within hours, three powerful USW district directors in Ohio tossed their support to Abel. Observers believe other support for Abel will be forthcoming.

There had been rumors of a split brewing in the USW leadership for months.

The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette quoted unidentified sources in the union as saying that opposition to McDonald stems from what they call his lack of communication with the rank-and-file of the million-member union. Local officers reportedly claimed they have been unable to meet with McDonald to discuss problems.

Twice within about a year, out-of-town steelworkers picketed the union's international offices in downtown Pittsburgh.

The Ohio support for Abel, of Magnolia, Ohio, came from three districts that contain about 90,000 of the state's 135,000 USW members.

Paul Schrepf, director of the Cleveland area district, said his 17-member staff has voted unanimously to back Abel. Schrepf said they followed his recommendation.

In Canton, director John S. Johns said his staff took the same action under his direction.

Paul Rusen, director of the Steubenville district, said his district has lined up behind Abel.

McDonald said of Abel's candidacy, "it did not come totally as a surprise. After all, this seems to be the season for such antics."

McDonald said he was unaware of any dissatisfaction in the union. He pointed to benefits he said his leadership had brought to the union.

Abel issued a statement saying he and others seeking union posts intend to see that the USW remains "a great union, owned by and responsible to the will of the membership." He declined to elaborate.

Driver Cited, No One Hurt In 5 Mishaps

Car Strikes Halted Rig; Fog Blamed For Another Wreck

A city motorist was cited but no one was injured in five traffic accidents investigated Friday night and early this morning by police.

Heavy fog was blamed for a mishap shortly before 3 a. m. on Broadway, approximately 100 feet north of E. 3rd St.

Charles R. Clutter, 27, of Cleveland told police he was having his car pushed down the grade in an attempt to get it started. Although he had his headlights turned on, he was unable to see the parked auto of A. Ward L. Rhodes of McCoy Ave., and a collision resulted.

Police said there was extensive damage to the left rear of Rhodes' 1956 auto along with damage to the right front of the

9 Plants Shut Down Strike Imperils Ford's Records

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. still was smarting today from a United Auto Workers' strike which hit nine key plants Friday and endangered Ford's visions of continuing production and sales records.

Some 25,000 UAW members struck four Ford assembly plants, two stamping plants and three parts manufacturing plants. The walkouts followed failure to settle local-level contracts which supplement the national labor agreement reached Sept. 18.

Ward's Automotive Reports said the Ford strike would cut some 7,000 cars and 1,000 trucks from this week's anticipated production totals.

A company spokesman estimated Ford's auto production — about 10,000 per day — was slashed 16 per cent by the stoppages at the assembly plants. He said truck production, rated at 1,800 daily, was cut 34 per cent.

And, he added, if the strike continues at the parts plants, other assembly plants would be affected in time.

The strikes, over working conditions, seniority and overtime provisions, were called "completely unnecessary" by Malcolm L. Denise, a Ford vice president and chief negotiator.

"We have worked diligently with the UAW to settle hundreds of unresolved issues — many of which should not even be on the bargaining table," Denise said.

Ken Bannon, the UAW Ford department director, said "in every instance where an unresolved issue has prevented a settlement, a settlement of that question has been reached at another plant."

Shut down by the walkouts were the Dallas car and truck assembly plant, the Louisville car and truck assembly plant, the Wayne, Mich., truck plant and Ford-Mercury assembly plant, the Chicago Heights stamped body parts plant, the Buffalo, N.Y., body parts stamping plant, the Sheffield, Ala., aluminum castings foundry, the Sterling, Mich., chassis assembly plant and the Ypsilanti, Mich., miscellaneous parts plant.

Ford, with a total of about 160,000 production workers in 90 bargaining units around the country, faces still another walkout Monday at its Mercury assembly plant at St. Louis, Mo. The local there postponed its strike deadline from Friday to Monday.

Rusk Begins Talks With Policy Chiefs Of Europe Allies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk today begins discussions with European foreign policy chiefs to find out if there still is a chance of salvaging the late president John F. Kennedy's grand design of a trans-Atlantic partnership.

Rusk is scheduled to meet with Joseph M. A. H. Luns, the foreign minister of the Netherlands. Monday, he will confer with Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium and Nov. 22 with Gerhard Schroeder, the foreign minister of West Germany.

Other meetings will be held early in December when a number of European foreign ministers are expected in the United States for the convening of the U.N. General Assembly.

In January, according to reports from London, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson is expected to come to Washington for talks with President Johnson on allied nuclear policy.

Nuclear weapons management and control is at the heart of the crisis facing the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The diplomatic traffic will not be one-way entirely.

George W. Ball, Rusk's deputy at the State Department, will meet with Schroeder in Berlin Thursday and with German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard in Bonn Nov. 16.

The primary object of all these sessions is to find a way to shore up the Atlantic community, now showing signs of disintegration.

A sudden and vehement French offensive is the major, though not the only reason for this feverish diplomatic activity, according to U.S. officials.

Charles de Gaulle, the French president, suspects the United States is trying to woo West Germany from partnership with France and he is stepping up pressure for reshaping NATO.

Recently he sent two of his top aides, Premier Georges Pompidou and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, into the frontline. They blasted the U.S.-proposed Multilateral Nuclear Fleet and hinted that France might turn its back on NATO if Washington insists on creating the controversial mixed-manned force.

U.S. officials said the United States is determined to go ahead with this plan and that the angry accusations in Paris did not affect Washington's position in this respect.

Authoritative Washington sources acknowledged that the double-barreled attack in Paris represents an unexpected and unexplained change in the French position.

Although France has said from the outset it is not interested in participating in the multilateral force, no objections were expected from De Gaulle to creation of the fleet and to participation by other allies.

Pompidou Thursday charged that the fleet is in fact a camouflage for a German-American alliance and predicted that the fleet will become a "destructive agent" for Europe.

U.S. officials said they were mystified by the French attitude and could not explain the change. But they said there is no immediate danger of France leaving NATO.

Event To Begin Monday

City Schools To Observe National Education Week

American Education Week will be observed in all city schools Monday through Friday with most planning special programs for parents.

The special programs have been scheduled at various schools on each day except Wednesday when classes will be suspended because of Veterans' Day. However, parents may visit any day.

A WINDOW display at Ogilvie's is planned by the high school's American Education Week committee headed by Austen Moore as chairman and Mrs. Dora Bee Poynter co-chairman.

Others on the high school committee are Charles Ridenour, Richard Bryan, Wilbert Moore and John Robison.

Parents have been advised of the class time schedule and the schedules of the teachers so they may be contacted during their free periods, Principal Carl F. Pelini said.

Open house will be observed Tuesday at the Glenmoor and LaCroft Schools. Children have prepared invitations for their parents.

At Glenmoor, the homeroom mothers' committee with Mrs. Edward House as chairman will be hostesses for tea to be served throughout the day.

A SIMILAR committee headed by Mrs. Allan Smith as chairman will serve tea at LaCroft.

The LaCroft PTA will hold its regular meeting at 7:30 p. m. with Thomas Scott, president, in charge.

Tuesday also has been set aside for visitation at Klondyke School when parents will be able to observe reading classes at all six grade levels.

Coffee will be served after which a filmstrip, "Your Child and Reading," will be screened. The strip was produced by the

Sunday To Be Mild, Light Showers Seen

Mild weather is due for Sunday but it may be coupled with light showers.

The state weatherman said "over 20 per cent" of Northeast Ohio will have light showers tomorrow with temperatures expected to range above today's anticipated high of 62.

The warming trend that had been forecast for today was developing as scheduled after a frosty and foggy night that saw the mercury fall to exactly freezing — 32 degrees — in the downtown at 6 a. m. with sub-freezing readings in the rural areas. Tonight's low will be a much milder 42 to 45.

Certification Of Vote Expected On Monday

The official canvass of returns from the general election Tuesday probably will not be certified until Monday, Frank R. O'Hanlon, County Election Board clerk, said today.

The figures will be turned over to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown at Columbus, Ohio's chief election officer.

The official canvass was launched Thursday morning. The board had anticipated Friday the job might be completed sometime today. Headed toward the home stretch, the board and its clerical staff convened again this morning at the office on W. 6th St.

8,000 Japs Protest Visits By U.S. Subs

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP) — Police clashed today with about 8,000 students and socialists snake-dancing in front of a U.S. naval base to protest scheduled visits by nuclear submarines.

The clash occurred after the demonstrators — carrying "Yankee Go Home" placards — marched up to the main gate of the Yokosuka base and began hurling rocks, placards and shoes at police stationed there.

The police charged the mob swinging their truncheons.

Dillon Urged By President To Keep Post

Head Of Treasury Reported Restless; No Decision Made

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has asked Douglas Dillon to remain indefinitely as secretary of the treasury, informed sources said today.

Dillon, 55, is restless for a change after four years in the post but has made no decision, the sources said.

The Republican has held a variety of jobs in international affairs and finance since he entered government under then President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1953.

After the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, Dillon told Johnson he would stay until the new administration was well established. During the presidential election campaign, he said he still considered himself a liberal Republican. He openly attacked policies recommended by Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican nominee.

The secretary feels that good progress has been made in bolstering the domestic economy and stemming the flow of dollars abroad.

Two other key administration figures announced some time ago that they intend to quit their jobs shortly after the election — Dr. Walter W. Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, and Robert V. Roosa, undersecretary of the treasury for monetary affairs.

The job of undersecretary of the treasury — the No. 2 position in the department — has been vacant since the resigna-

Special Election Plans Snarled In Beaver Local

The County Election Board received a written opinion this morning from Prosecuting Atty. G. William Brokaw which would prohibit another special election in this calendar year in the Beaver Local School District, where voters apparently rejected a new 5.4-mill levy at Tuesday's election.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, veteran election clerk, also commented today on the earliest date the district can hold a special election, the state law on recounts, and praised the integrity of the 990 judges and clerks who worked in the county's 165 polling places.

Brokaw's ruling said state law provides that school districts submitting levies under Revised Code 5705.21 are entitled to submit the issues at only one special election in a calendar year.

The Beaver Local district had submitted a new levy, which also was defeated, under the same section of the state law at a special election held in conjunction with the May primaries.

The ruling was not sought specifically because of the announcement by school officials they would seek a new election, O'Hanlon emphasized, but because of the possibility that other school districts throughout the county might seek special elections if levies were defeated.

O'Hanlon also pointed out the earliest the district can hold a special election would be Jan. 5. School officials had indicated Friday the election would be held Jan. 4.

However, the election clerk explained the state law prohibits special elections 10 days before or after Christmas, Easter or Thanksgiving. Other legal holidays are not specifically barred by state law, he said.

O'Hanlon said the law also

Ballots And Machines Ordered Impounded

CLEVELAND (AP) — A case of alleged ballot stealing in Tuesday's election has resulted in an order by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown for ballots and voting machines used in three Ward 24 precincts to be impounded.

Two of the precincts, L and M, figure in an intensive police investigation into the disappearance of 725 ballots. The third precinct, K, had voting machines and its totals were not involved.

The ballots and voting machines were to be impounded where dry option was an issue.

Reverse Khrushchev's Policy New Leaders In Kremlin To Push Private Farming

MOSCOW (AP) — Reversing a Khrushchev policy, the Kremlin's new leaders have announced plans to encourage private farming. The move is expected to increase the Soviet Union's hard-pressed agricultural output.

Under Khrushchev, farm policy emphasis was on state ownership while private plots were reduced and limitations placed on private ownership of livestock.

"In recent years unwarranted restrictions were permitted in this area although the economic conditions were not yet ripe," Leonid I. Brezhnev, first secretary of the Soviet Communist party, said Friday.

"These restrictions have now been eliminated," he said. "It would be incorrect to neglect the possibilities of the private farming plots of collective farmers, workers and employees for the satisfaction of their needs."

Brezhnev, who replaced Khrushchev as head of the party, announced the important policy shift in a speech at the Kremlin Hall of Palaces on the eve of the Bolshevik Revolution's 47th anniversary.

The decision was expected to win warm approval among the nation's large peasant popula-

Police Probe $40 Burglary

Police today continued investigation of a burglary at the Speedy Car Wash on Broadway near E. 3rd St. in which an agile intruder escaped with $40 in currency and silver.

The burglar climbed onto the roof of the one-story building, removed the cover from an air ventilator and then bent the blades of a fan to crawl through the opening, police said.

Forcing a door to the office, the burglar took the money from a green bag in a desk drawer, police said. The petty cash funds included a $10 bill, two $5's, 10 $1's and 10 in silver, mostly 25-cent pieces, officers said.

The burglar left by a door on the east side of the building.

The entry was timed between 7:30 p. m. Thursday and 9 a. m. Friday, George Serago was listed as owner of the business.

Meanwhile, a supplemental report was filed on the loss in a burglary Thursday night or early Friday at the Caplan ty's acknowledged pros, as national chairman.

Around the country Republican leaders continued to debate the election, in which, besides Goldwater's defeat, the GOP's congressional strength was reduced to its lowest level since the 1930s.

Arthur D. Larson, a onetime aide to Dwight D. Eisenhower, the last Republican president, called Goldwater "the guy who really crushed the Republican party."

Larson, who supported President Johnson against Goldwater, added in an Ogden, Utah, interview: "The conservatives are telling us we aren't true Republicans. I was with Eisenhower in the middle of the greatest landslide the party ever had, and now the element that took us to its greatest defeat is pelting us with this (statement)."

New York's senior Republican senator, Jacob K. Javits, added his voice to those who urged Goldwater to step down as leader of the party, a role the Arizona senator said Wednesday he intends to retain.

Javits told a news conference in New York that the election results were a repudiation of what he called the "radical views" of Goldwater and his running mate, Rep. William E. Miller of New York.

Miller, among those who met Goldwater at Dulles International Airport, stressed a need for unity. He said a meeting of Republican governors — scheduled for early next month in Chicago — followed by meetings of the governors, the National Committee and the party's congressional leadership, might be helpful.

The reaction from Tuesday's results hung over a meeting Friday of nine moderate House Republicans. They plan another meeting next week.

But Rep. John V. Lindsay, New York City congressman re-elected with more than 70 per cent of the vote despite the Johnson landslide, said the meeting had been scheduled before the election.

Speaking of himself and fellow GOP House moderates, Lindsay said: "We are among the people who will have to rebuild the party from the ashes."

Although the moderates discussed reports that a move will be made to oust GOP House Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, one member who attended said the nine were not out to replace Halleck but wanted to present a united front in case a struggle develops.

Both Reps. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan and Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin discounted talk of a revolt against Halleck and called for party unity. Ford and Laird have been mentioned as possible contenders for Halleck's job.

Taft and Lincoln Schools also will observe Visitation Day on Tuesday with regular schedules being followed. At Lincoln, teachers will join parents for a tea in the auditorium at 2:30 p. m.

OPEN HOUSE will be held from 9 to 11:30 a. m. Tuesday at Pleasant Heights with normal class schedules. The Mothers Club will meet at 1:30 p. m.

Classroom visitation at McKinley is scheduled from 1:30-3:30 p. m.

Parents have been urged to visit Westgate Elementary Tuesday when special opportunity will be given to see classes working with the new mathematics system.

Displays of class work and seasonal art also will be featured and parents are being urged to remain for lunch so they will gain a better understanding of the school lunch program.

A SPECIAL open house will be held from 7 to 8:30 during the regular PTA meeting for those unable to visit during the day. A display of audio-visual aids which have been added to the program, including the listening center and controlled reader, will be featured.

Parents of Westgate Junior High pupils have been invited to a program Thursday night when a regular schedule will be followed with shortened periods. Each pupil will take home a copy of their schedule for parents to follow.

A combined open house and Parents' Night will be held Thursday from 6:30 to 9 at East Junior High.

Teachers will discuss objectives, teaching methods, procedures and classroom rules during the six 12-minute periods. Students' work will be displayed in each room with visual education equipment on display in the visual education room.

ALTHOUGH parents have been urged to attend when possible, Thursday has been designated for visitation at Neville when the subject of reading will be highlighted.

The program has been arranged to permit all visitors to observe reading classes at all six grade levels. Beginning at 1:15 p. m., parents may observe reading by first and second grade children, at 1:45, third and fourth grade levels, and at 2:15, fifth and sixth grade levels.

Coffee will be served parents at 2:45 p. m. Following the coffee break, a filmstrip on "Your Child and Reading", produced by the National Education Association and purchased by the teachers, will be shown.

Work of the children will be displayed in classrooms and halls.

The Beautiful autumn weather attracted 17,575 visitors to the Beaver Creek State Park near Williamsport during October, according to Elmer Hiles, park supervisor.

A total of 129,727 have visited the park this year. The park also registered 4,551 campers at the primitive camping site.

Thirty members of a Boy Scout troop from Poland were busy at the park today transplanting trees.

The youths are doing the work as part of a conservation project. Maple trees are being taken from the low ground and transplanted along the hiking trails.

Miss Smiley told police she had stopped, turned on the right turn signal and had started to back into a parking place when her 1964 auto was struck from the rear.

Galloway said he saw the woman starting to back and applied his brakes but was unable to stop in time.

Herbert W. Lockhart, 1827 Dakota Ave., reported to police late Friday afternoon the left front door of his station wagon was damaged by a hit-skip motorist while parked between 9 a. m. and noon yesterday on Broadway near Summit Ln.

tion in March of Henry M. Fowler.

Dillon's father has been ill and there is a possibility the secretary will take over the investment banking business the elder Dillon founded.

A few years ago, Dillon, a multimillionaire, was quoted as saying no job in private life offers the satisfactions to be found in government service. He enjoyed the State Department troubleshooting assignments he was given during the Eisenhower administration.

If Dillon is seeking a challenge, he may find a great one in his present job. The treasury is scheduled to draw up proposals for excise tax cuts and new tax regulations regarding foundations next year.

Further income tax cuts may come in 1966. Also, the treasury still is wrestling with a shortage of coins, and the parallel problem of a dwindling supply of silver. The dollar outflow may have been slowed, but it has not been solved.

There have been some major policy disagreements between Dillon and Heller, although this apparently will have little bearing on Dillon's decision, especially since Heller definitely plans to resign. Heller usually is given credit for proposing the income tax cut as a means of bolstering the economy; the treasury is given a major share of the credit for pushing it through Congress.

Voters Rejected Increases 4 States Face Protests By Teachers On Low Pay

ATLANTA (AP) — Rejection by voters of proposals to raise teacher salaries — or school financial difficulties — presented serious problems in at least four states today.

Teachers protested in a variety of ways in Oklahoma, Kentucky, Georgia and Louisiana.

All schools in Louisville, Ky., are expected to be closed Monday because most of the teachers plan to take part in a protest demonstration against low pay.

About 140 Louisville teachers went on strike after voters Tuesday turned down a proposal for higher school taxes. The teachers, who are paid from $4,400 to $6,600 annually, are demanding a pay raise of $1,500 — five times what the tax increase would have given them.

The Louisville Board of Education said the teachers are required to return to work by Tuesday. The teachers say they will not return until salary demands are met.

About 600 teachers in Midwest City, a suburb of Oklahoma City, voted for a holiday Monday. The Tulsa School Board called off classes there Monday for its 2,500 teachers, citing a "state of confusion and emotionalism."

Spokesmen for both groups said the one-day holiday was called to express disappointment over failure of voters Tuesday to approve four school proposals, including one to raise pay.

Oklahoma teachers now receive at least $3,800 a year and the defeated measure would have hiked the minimum to $4,400. The salary scale is higher in Tulsa, starting at $4,300.

Georgia's county school systems face the prospect of supplying more local money for schools or losing state supplements. The legislature approved a law this year requiring local systems to increase their share of school costs from 15 to 20 per cent.

The Georgia Board of Education notified school officials in Catoosa County, in northwest

Mrs. James D. Culp, the former Judith Eccleston, was honored with a miscellaneous bridal shower Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Robert Taylor of Oak St.

A pink parasol decorated the table on which the gifts were displayed.

Contests were won by Mrs. Robert McLane, Mrs. Richard Grier and Mrs. Culp.

Refreshments were served 15 by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Grier. The buffet table was centered with a wedding cake. Pink tapers and a punch bowl completed the setting. Favors were miniature parasols.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Eccleston and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Culp of W. 5th St. They were married Oct. 17 in the Chester Methodist Church with the Rev. Forrest Campbell, pastor, officiating for the single-ring ceremony.

Keith Nelson was best man. The bride is a 1960 graduate of East Liverpool High School and is employed in the office of the Riggs Wholesale Co. Her husband works at the Harker Pottery Co. at Chester.

The newlyweds are residing in an apartment at 687 Lincoln Ave.

Several articles were reviewed by Mrs. Harry Walker at the meeting of the Susannah Wesley Circle of the First Methodist Church Thursday afternoon in the Fellowship Hall.

One concerned converts of Billy Graham and the other, the United Fund Campaign. She also discussed the Bible study, "Summoned to a New Age."

Members repeated Ps. 91 and sang "I Love to Tell the Story." Mrs. George Hercules, circle chairman, announced the group will serve a Thanksgiving dinner Nov. 19 for the Senior Citizens Group. Mrs. Victoria Willis will be in charge of the kitchen and Mrs. Robert Risinger, the diningroom.

Dessert luncheon was served 16 by Mrs. Hercules and Mrs. John Shawke. The tables were decorated with orange straw flowers, gourds and white tapers. Guests were Mrs. John Clark and Mrs. Eleanor Johnson.

The next session will be a combined circle coverdish dinner Dec. 14. Mrs. Albert Millward will represent the group on the social committee.

A meditation, "The Greatest Gift," was read in union at the meeting of the Loyal Workers Class of the Orchard Grove Community Methodist Church.

It Ain't Necessarily So

The refrain of a popular song of years ago comes to mind when Ohio's Robert Taft Jr. is written off by political soothsayers because the Johnson landslide buried him, along with Charles Percy of Illinois.

These are two of the most attractive political figures of the ascendant generation. Both were victims of the Johnson landslide. Both had been favored to win despite the prospect of Republican defeat at the presidential level.

What defeated them was no failure of their own but a violent voter reaction against the Republican presidential ticket. Yet the political soothsayers are leaping to the conclusion that the Taft and Percy political career were demolished.

"It ain't necessarily so."

Bob Taft Jr.'s career would have been accelerated if he had been elected to the U.S. Senate. The Senate would have been a showcase. His name would have been in the news. The nation would have remembered when his father became the most powerful man in Washington as leader of the Senate Republicans.

Red Square Lineup

The traditional conclave of Communists in Moscow to mark the anniversary of the 1917 revolution is being held this weekend.

The nearest thing to it outside of Moscow is the party convention, which is when U. S. politicians are put on display.

As the Russian politicos line up in the reviewing stand for the military parade through Red Square, their "pecking order" is established for public view, just as it is in our own party conventions when they appear on the rostrum to perform their assigned functions.

Since Nikita Khrushchev's pictures were taken down last Oct. 14-15, the new Soviet leaders have been struggling to consolidate their power. They have had to butter up delegations from satellite states and foreign Communist parties who expressed everything from curiosity to outrage about the way Khrushchev was deposed.

THE 47TH anniversary celebration in Moscow has added interest because of the recent shakeup in the hierarchy. All

24 Voters In Dubuque

At 6:48 election night, one of the broad-casting networks flashed the news that President Johnson had won the presidency with from 60 to 70 per cent of the popular vote.

To be sure, the announcement was hedged. The network said the President was the "projected winner," not the actual winner. All three networks kept explaining in detail during election night how they arrived at their "projections."

It was as if all the ablest minds in politics had been assembled in one place, one of them explained, then given the results from key precincts whose past votes they had memorized. Their opinions then could be collected and processed, with the end results of getting a highly educated guess about the trend of the voting.

But this would take time. Electronic computers, with the outcome of previous "memory systems," can make educated guesses in split seconds. The networks weren't kidding. Hours before the vote had been cast on the West Coast, TV screens from coast to coast were flashing the probably result of the election based on Eastern voting.

In the instance of Kentucky, one of the earliest states to finish its count, it was reported proudly that the Democratic majority had proved to be exactly what it was projected to be — 63 per cent. Although the majority in the popular vote

Cotton Corners

Dear Nephew: We pulled through the election without bloodshed and hope you did the same. Sure feels good after it's over, doesn't it?

As to what happened, everything worth saying has been said. It would be a fine thing if nobody talked about it until time had built up perspective. I am a nut on perspective.

Our native intelligence could tell us almost everything we need to know if we would give it time. I mean, give our intelligence enough time to assert what it can do in our behalf.

Some people prefer to think of it as instinct, rather than intelligence. I, myself, make no distinction between one and the other. I think of them as being so closely intertwined as to be inseparable. All the highly intelligent people I know have good instincts, and this attribute is part of what makes them intelligent.

IT TAKES TIME for instinctual intelligence to assert itself. Instinct is not instantaneous like a good reflex action. It entails absorption and processing, something like planting a seed and waiting for it to germinate.

Sometimes your instinct tells you one thing and your superficial reason tells you another. Your instinct tells you to mistrust someone, the way an elephant's instinct warns it not to walk over a weak bridge. But your superficial reason tells you the fellow bathes daily, goes to church on Sunday, is vice president of a bank and has a nice family. So you disregard your instinct. You go by your superficial reasoning.

Then the fellow turns out to be a bank

In the same way, Mr. Percy's career would have been helped if he had been elected governor of Illinois. But it does not follow that his career has been demolished because he wasn't elected governor.

Both men now must find other means of keeping themselves before the public.

It can be done. Mr. Percy never has held a public office yet had made himself widely known. Mr. Taft, though a legislator in Columbus and later in Washington, never has made overt use of his public office to advance his private interests.

These men came to favorable attention because they looked like potential leaders to fill places being vacated by older men. A political generation is passing. New faces must be found in both political parties.

We do not believe Robert Taft Jr. and Charles Percy will be any less attractive in the years ahead because of what happened to them last Tuesday.

eyes will be riveted on the reviewing stand to see who shows up and who doesn't.

It has been speculated that heavy industry and the military are now in the ascendancy. The lineup will be studied for clues to this possibility.

Even the expressions on the characteristically saturnine faces of the top echelon figures will be studied for clues. Who looks worried?

Already there has been some juggling. Mikhail Suslov, the theoretician who delivered the indictment that undid Khrushchev is reported to have been downgraded immediately after the October takeover.

Defense Minister Malinovsky, the Red Army's "tough soldier," is reported on the upgrade.

IN RUSSIA you can't tell the players without a program. Matter of fact, you can't tell them in the United States, either, but the distinctions are made more subtly here than they are by studying a lineup in Red Square.

Will P. McKinney

It could have been guessed by Will P. McKinney's admirers that his death, when it happened, would be in keeping with the near-perfection of his long life.

He died early Thursday morning in his sleep. He had not been ill. He worked Wednesday as usual. He was 82.

Will McKinney was president of the Times Publishing Co. of Marietta. He was Ohio's grand old man of newspapering. His skill was still sparkling, his wit was still coming on strong and his energy was still flowing in his 80s.

All the people who loved and admired him will mark his passing with sorrow, but with admiration for the good life he lived.

By Truman Twill

embezzer and your instinct was right. This is why I feel that intelligence—real intelligence—is a combination of all mental powers.

I HAVE ALWAYS used instinct to guide me in choosing political candidates, provided I can keep them in focus long enough to give my instinct a chance. For instance, I have a politician in mind right now who is going like a house afire in our area. Everybody thinks this guy is the greatest.

My instinct tells me he is a shyster. It warns me never to let him be in the same room with the silverware. It turns on my caution light about trusting him any further than I could throw a piano. On the face of it, this is crazy. My superficial reason tells me this character is no more sinister than any other rum-dum. But my instinct tells me if I live long enough I'll have a chance to sit on the jury that finds him guilty.

INSTINCT works for us in many ways, if we will let it.

Several times my life has been saved because my instinct told me danger was approaching. I couldn't see it, or hear it, but I could sense it, thanks to instinct.

All I want to say is that in a couple weeks all of us will know more about what happened in the election than we know now. Our instinct will wise us up—if we give it a chance.

Your Aunt Effie sends regards.
COTTON CORNERS UNCLE GEORGE

More than five million pounds of nickel are used throughout the world each year for the manufacture of coins.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
How long do landslide political victories last? History tells us that they have often been wiped out in less than two years.

The headlines of the last couple of days have proclaimed that President Johnson has won in the biggest landslide since 1936. But it so happens that David Lawrence two years later—in 1938—Mr. Roosevelt suffered a set-back in the congressional elections. Republican strength in the House almost doubled, rising from 89 to 164, and the number of Republicans in the Senate increased by seven. As James MacGregor Burns, a sympathetic biographer of Franklin D. Roosevelt, wrote, "The liberal bloc in the House was halved."

This wasn't the only instance. In the 1920 election Warren Harding, Republican, swamped James M. Cox, Democrat, and received the biggest popular majority which had been registered up to that time by any president. He got 60.4 per cent of the total vote but two years later, in 1922, the Republicans lost 76 seats in the House of Representatives and 8 seats in the Senate, retaining only a narrow majority.

Herbert Hoover won by a landslide in 1928—with 58 per cent of the popular vote and all but 87 of the electoral votes. Yet in 1930 the Republicans lost the House of Representatives and barely held the Senate. Mr. Hoover was defeated for reelection in 1932, when he got less than 40 per cent of the popular vote and only 59 electoral votes.

PRESIDENT Franklin D. Roosevelt won in 1936 by the biggest landslide of electoral votes any candidate has ever received, exceeding even that which President Johnson got. The Democratic majority in both the House and Senate was the largest ever attained by either party, but it balked at FDR's plan in 1937 to "pack" the Supreme Court.

Gen. Eisenhower won by a landslide of electoral votes in both 1952 and 1956. But after his first two years, his party did not have a majority in Congress during the remaining six years he was in office.

Why, it may be asked, does a president win by a landslide vote and yet fail to carry Congress, or suffer considerable losses in both houses two years after a landslide victory? Often a business recession is primarily responsible. This was the case in 1922, 1930, 1938 and 1958.

ELECTIONS for members of Congress at the same time a president is chosen are not likely to be related to specific issues in the way they usually are in mid-term congressional elections. An example of what happens when concrete issues are placed before the voters occurred in California. Thus, while President Johnson sponsored the civil rights legislation and carried California by a large majority, the people in the Golden State voted this week in a referendum for an amendment to the State Constitution to repeal a housing law which had interfered with the right of the individual to sell or rent his property to whomever he pleased. The people expressed disapproval of the law by passing the amendment.

In Akron, Ohio, too, the people voted against a local ordinance which attempted to regulate the sale of their property in the same way. There doubtless will be plenty of issues developing in the next two years which will be fought out in the congressional campaigns of 1966.

THE TOTAL vote for members of Congress when finally completed this time will probably be found to be much less than that cast for the presidential nominees. This is because many voters are unfamiliar with congressional operations and individual nominees. Ever since separate ballots for congressional seats and the presidency have been introduced in most states, there has been a noticeable drop-off in the total congressional vote as compared with the presidential vote.

In the 1964 election, there were only about a million votes cast than in 1960. What was the reason for this, especially since there has been an increase in eligible voters of at least 6 million? Was it because many of the people were dissatisfied with both parties and preferred not to vote at all, or because they felt the result was a foregone conclusion anyway?

If the Republican party remains a party of opposition instead of acquiescence, it may repeat the experience of the past when the party out of power has made substantial gains in Congress in the election held two years after a landslide victory by the other party in a presidential election.

Quarrels inside the Republican party will be confusing for a while, and will interfere with attempts to unify, but, in the long run, sensible politicians will appraise public opinion. If they find it is opposed to the administration, they will join in the protest instead of adopting what has been called the "me-too" policy—namely, acceptance of the doctrines of the dominant party.

How Long Will The Victory Last?

'I Agree With Yang That We Owe Our Nuclear Success To Our Great Leader's Inspiration—OR Else'

Kennedy Team Left No Vote Unturned

By VICTOR RIESEL
This is the first chapter — the making of a senator.

Here is the story of how Robert Francis Kennedy turned a campaign into a precise science by leading a team which found no errand too meager to run, no trip too fatiguing to make, no hamlet too isolated to visit, no minor leader too obscure to consult, no criticism too petty to answer, no issue too esoteric to tackle if a handful of votes were involved.

This science, which turned even vitriolic enemies into starry campaigners, is best profiled on the labor front in formerly ardent Republican districts outside of New York City.

To win this election, Kennedy and his eight-man inner circle realized they would have to arouse the labor movement "upstate" into furious campaigning. This had never been done — not even in the depression days of Franklin Roosevelt.

Thus, a United Labor Committee (ULC) was launched under the co-chairmanship of two never-sleeping men, John McNiff, an official of the Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, and Robert Mozer, a labor lawyer.

One of their first moves was to find the virtually unknown, minor labor leaders in the labor temples and one-room union headquarters in the state who rarely if ever had been personally consulted by a major candidate.

boasted that he even found Le Roy, N. Y., a town of 4,000, where labor officials, leading but a handful of workers, could not recall the last time such attention had been paid them.

Some 800 such labor leaders were visited personally by ULC activists who walked in and said they represented Bob Kennedy and wanted to know what they thought, what were the specific issues which worried them and their followers and what could the candidate do for them and their movement.

After each visit a one-page form was filled out by the ULC representative. On it was the name of the labor official visited, the number of union members in the area, the predominant wage level, percentage of members who generally vote Republican, the most important issue to members, second most important issue to members, how the officers and members feel about Robert Kennedy's candidacy.

a ULC analysis of each county, showing what had happened in the John Kennedy-Richard Nixon race, what were his (Bob Kennedy's) most serious obstacles, the major issues for and against him, as well as the population, income, age median, labor strength and a vote forecast if certain action should be taken.

THIS WAS just the beginning! Of the 800 regional labor leaders consulted, some 680 received personal letters from Kennedy himself. In addition he and some of the labor officials wrote at least 127,000 personal letters to third and fourth echelon labor men and rank and filers.

This had impact. One of the criticisms most often voiced by the regional union chiefs was their being taken for granted by old-line politicians and automatically counted on and the expectation that they would put money and manpower into each campaign though they were ignored during the years in between.

Typical of the success of this personal campaign were the results in New York's Nassau County, the state's most populated district outside of New York City. At the campaign's beginning, RFK had little support in this county's trade union movement. The federation of labor there refused to endorse him. Neutrality was the best the Kennedy team could get.

BUT THEN the ULC coordinator began meeting with many of the local union's political directors and rank and file local leaders. These meetings, and continued personal attention soon swung many unions, strongly pro-Keating, to an actual endorsement of Kennedy in the last week of the campaign.

In Nassau, as in scores of other counties, these unions, many of them previously antagonistic, soon put loud speaker trucks onto the streets and highways, made tens of thousands of phone calls, poured hundreds of thousands of publications into the mailboxes of members, widely circulated Kennedy's own newspaper, "The Tabloid," crushed Keating's own labor machine, reversed endorsements of the Republican, gave Kennedy full use of the trade union structure for swift contact with vast masses of members, got the usually unseen local labor leaders into the Kennedy caravans—and helped Robert F. Kennedy do the impossible.

It enabled him to run neck and neck with Kenneth Keating in traditional Republican regions and pull stronger than the late John F. Kennedy.

'No Major Mistakes'

By James Marlow

Sen. Barry Goldwater said of himself and his advisers on the day after election, with the wreckage still being counted from coast to coast: "I can't think of any major mistake we made."

They made some beauts. But Goldwater does not seem to consider his defeat in the presidential campaign, one of the worst in American political history, a repudiation of him or his philosophy of government.

He says he does not think the conservative cause has been hurt, indicates he intends to retain party leadership, and blames part of his defeat on those Republicans who didn't work or vote for him.

But Republicans are making an agonizing inquest on their election disaster and already are in a struggle over the direction and leadership of the party.

None of Goldwater's mistakes was more basic than in misjudging or simply not understanding the interests and thinking of an overwhelming number of Americans, as the election showed. This gets to the root of struggle.

Some other Republicans don't share his opinion when he calls himself a conservative. Therefore, an understanding of conservative is essential to the party's future. It requires a definition. The American College Dictionary says:

"A political party whose characteristic principle is opposition to change in the institutions of the country." This was the classic conservative view in the 19th century when the government participated little in American life.

But by this same definition Goldwater is not a conservative at all, for he has proposed not only changing but eliminating many government functions, long accepted by Democrats and Republicans, which have become institutions over the years of this century.

Through his philosophy he made a major mistake before the campaign began in advocating the elimination of various government functions and programs.

He suggested getting rid of the graduated income tax, selling TVA, making Social Security voluntary, pulling the government out of public housing and power, eliminating farm price supports and many social welfare programs, and cutting veterans' benefits.

By voting against the civil rights bill before the campaign began he lost the vote of most American Negroes. Yet, to win, he needed the vote of every individual he could find.

It was before he was a candidate, needing votes, that he felt free to make such statements. They established him as a rugged individualist, although he was a millionaire, and endeared himself to the right wing in American politics.

But when he became a candidate in need of votes he softened much he had said before or fogged it with vagueness. He made only two specifically constructive proposals: cutting taxes and ending the draft.

Killed In Hit-Skip

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — Charles E. Simms, 37, of Warren, whose body was found Friday just outside the city limits, apparently was killed by a hit-skip driver about midnight Thursday, sheriff's deputies said.

Dr. Joseph Sudimack Jr., Trumull County Coroner, estimated Simms had been dead about eight hours when his body was found. Simms was a structural steel worker.

Redistricting Plans Go To Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—All of the proposals for remapping Ohio's congressional districts are being turned over to the legislature by its special study committee. But four are marked for particular attention.

Chairman Charles F. Kurfess, R-Wood, said Friday the four are "examples of districts which tend to comply" with guidelines the committee is recommending to the legislature.

Each would divide Franklin County East-West into two districts, split Summit County North-South and slice into Montgomery County. Two would add part of western Lake County to Cuyahoga County's 22nd District, three would change the 13th District (Erie, Huron, Lorain, Sandusky Counties) to eliminate Sandusky (which would go to the 5th or 8th) and add Medina, and one would divide Lucas County East-West.

The committee looked over 15 other maps and Kurfess said these, plus testimony and all other background "in our bulky file" will go to the special session which starts Monday.

The redistricting effort results from a February ruling of the U. S. Supreme Court that congressional districts must be as nearly equal in population as possible.

Ohio has 24 members in the U. S. House of Representatives. One is elected at-large statewide because the 1961 and 1963 legislatures did not create a 24th District after the population gain noted in the 1960 census gave Ohio the additional seat.

Dividing the state's 1960 population by 24 brings an average of 404,432. Even with a 15 per cent variation, seven of the present districts are too far above that average and five are too far below.

In guidelines proposed Friday, the committee urged that places of residence of incumbent congressmen or congressmen-elect be taken into consideration (presumably to avoid removal from the district).

Sheriff Reports Entry And Vandalism Cases

LISBON — An intruder in a Glenmoor home and damage to a power shovel were being investigated today by the Columbiana County Sheriff's Department.

C. H. Shultz of Route 267 near Glenmoor reported to deputies Friday he was awakened late yesterday morning by the sound of someone in his home, but failed to find anything missing.

Deputies said a window in the cellar door was broken, and entrance had been made by reaching through to unlock the door.

Kenny Burt, Cannons Mills excavating contractor, reported vandals smashed the windows of a power shovel he had parked along Longs Run Rd.

Open House Planned At Midland Parochial

The Presentation Parochial School at Midland will observe National Education week with open house, Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7-8:30.

Sister Ermeline, principal, said parents may visit the school to meet the teachers and to discuss their children's work.

Report cards for the first grading period will be distributed to the parents during open house.

prohibits any subdivision from asking for a recount of election results. The Beaver Local board adopted a resolution seeking the recount at a special meeting Thursday night.

The only method by which a recount can be requested on a subdivision question and issue is for five qualified electors, who must certify they voted in opposition to the declared result, to file a written request with the election board, asking a recount, specifying the precincts in which the new count is sought, and posting a $10 cash surety for each of the precincts.

The request must also designate one of the five as chairman, he said.

If the recount changes the result of the election or there is a change of more than 4 per cent in the vote, there is no charge, O'Hanlon said.

The board must charge at least $5 per precinct otherwise, O'Hanlon said, explaining it might have to charge $10 per each precinct in which the recount is requested because of expenses. Public funds cannot be used to pay for the recount, he added.

O'Hanlon said the election board has the "utmost confidence" in the integrity and honesty of the 990 precinct workers, adding the board feels its machinery for the election is "100 per cent honest".

The election clerk said the board has not received any official complaint from the Beaver Local district on irregularities. One verbal complaint was phoned to the board, but the caller was instructed to make a written protest, he added.

However, as a result of the verbal complaint, an informal investigation was made but it showed no irregularities, O'Hanlon said.

In one precinct, shared by two school districts, O'Hanlon said the presiding judges and clerks recognized two voters as residents of the Beaver Local district and insisted they receive ballots on the Beaver Local issue rather than on the Southern Local proposition which they had requested.

The Beaver Local board also adopted a resolution contesting the Tuesday results after a discussion at its Thursday meetings on reports of voters being handed ballots for wrong issues.

Sebring Pair Pleads Innocent In Burglary LISBON — Two Sebring residents entered pleas of not guilty when arraigned Friday before County Judge James L. MacDonald on a burglary charge.

Douglas Edward Moschgat, 18, and Francis Trofyn Baldwin, 22, requested preliminary hearings on the charges of burglary in the night session of the uninhabited Pine Hill Archery Club on Ridge Rd. near Alliance.

Both are free on $1,000 bond. A juvenile also was involved in the case.

Young Driver Unhurt In Wreck Of Compact

LISBON — Robert James Hickle Jr., 17, of Bloomingdale R. D. 1, escaped injury but his 1962 compact was damaged extensively when he crashed Friday at 4:40 p.m. on County Rd. 410, a mile and a half south of County Rd. 411 near Guilford Lake.

The State Highway Patrol said Hickle topped a hillcrest and saw two other cars halted for a stop sign. The car swerved left as he applied the brakes and then rolled onto its side after it left the highway.

Area Public Offices Will Mark Holiday

County and municipal offices of the Tri-State area will be closed Wednesday for Veterans Day, with federal and state agencies also taking a holiday. Some schools will suspend.

The city's retail stores will be open as usual.

But metered parking will be free. Veterans Day is one of the holidays designated in the city's parking meter ordinance. All other traffic and parking regulations will be in effect, police warned.

All offices at City Hall will be closed, including Municipal Court. The Courthouse at Lisbon will not be open.

City schools will be closed, but St. Aloysius School will hold classes as usual.

Also closed for the holiday will be First National Bank, Potters Bank & Trust Co. and First Federal Savings & Loan Association.

The Post Office will follow a regular holiday schedule with no window service or deliveries except for special deliveries and perishable items.

The Ohio State Employment Service office, which will be closed for the holiday, asked claimants to report on Tuesday. Carnegie Public Library also will be closed.

The State Liquor Stores in East Liverpool and Wellsville will be closed.

The Central Federal Savings & Loan Association and the Perpetual Savings & Loan Co. of Wellsville will close.

Closed will be the Hancock County Courthouse in New Cumberland and all county schools, besides the Chester Post Office, State Liquor Store and City Hall.

Borough offices in Midland also will observe the holiday.

Offices at the Beaver County Courthouse and Midland Borough Building will be closed.

Schools in the Midland, Western Beaver County and Southern Beaver County Systems will suspend classes, as will the Presentation Parochial School in Midland.

The State Liquor Store in Midland will be closed as will all windows at the Post Office.

Salem Trucker Cited In Weirton Violation

WEIRTON — A Salem resident was one of two Ohio truck drivers arrested on traffic charges on Main St. Friday afternoon.

Police reported Kenneth C. Brudery, 44, of Salem, R.D. 5 was cited on a charge of having no pilot car leading his overweight vehicle. Police said a pilot car was trailing Brudery's northbound vehicle. Instead of leading, he posted $31 bond for a hearing Monday in Municipal Court.

Kenneth Parsons, 53, of Canton was cited on charges of overweight, having no hauling permit and no registration card. He posted $93 bond for a hearing Monday.

15 Congregations Take Part

Church Council Gifts Dedicated

Representatives of 15 churches brought forth parcels for dedication at the annual observance of World Community Day sponsored by the East Liverpool Council of United Church Women Friday afternoon at the First Church of Christ. About 80 attended.

The material aids included cotton piece goods for children's and women's clothing and school bags and supplies. Mrs. Dorothy Peters gave the prayer of dedication following the program theme, "Nations In Community a Channel to Peace."

THE REV. E. C. Traylor, pastor, spoke on men and nations in a changing world, asserting that a world community with an access to everything is the hope of civilization.

Emphasizing that Christians hold enough spiritual power to save the world, he said "people must face reality and take their place in the center of international life as world brotherhood is very near."

Miss Mildred Rose, chairman, extended the welcome and offered opening prayer. Participating in the worship service were Mrs. Henry Johnston of the Calvary Methodist Church, Maj. Elizabeth Thomas and Mrs. Mary Carroll, Salvation Army; Mrs. Nellie McLain and Miss Jessie Henry, First Methodist; Mrs. George Boyce, First Baptist; Mrs. E. C. Grimm, Second United Presbyterian, and Mrs. Earl Lones, Trinity United Presbyterian.

A VOCAL trio, Mrs. Geraldine Schneider, Mrs. Mary Ellen Wheeler and Miss Rose, sang "He Is Walking Life's Highway Today."

Mrs. Evelyn Talbot, church organist, accompanied group singing of "God of the Nations" and "O God of Love."

Miss Rose gave the offertory prayer with the gifts designated for the establishment of a Bureau of Christian Education at the All - Africa Conference of Churches.

Mrs. Roy Richards, council president, announced the world clothing drive will be held during December with headquarters at the First Church of Christ. Mrs. John Keller is chairman.

MRS. THOMAS H. Wolfe took subscriptions to "The Church Woman" periodical of United Church Women.

Miss Jo Ann Vannoy, at the piano, and Mrs. Talbot, at the organ, played a medley of hymns for the prelude.

Ushers were Mrs. Elsie Smith, Mrs. Wanda DeWalt, Mrs. Lewis Snyder and Mrs. Jack Wheeler.

The next observance for the council will be World Day of Prayer the first Friday of Lent.

Canton Pastor Will Address Christian Church Sessions

The Rev. Ernest J. Newborn, pastor of the Cherry Ave. Christian Church of Canton, will be afternoon speaker at the District 7 convention of Christian Churches in the First church of Lisbon Nov. 15.

Rev. Newborn will give a sermon on spiritual renewal for the opening worship of the convention.

The convention will then hold a Town Hall-style discussion, with Dr. Warner Muir, Dr. Franklin Minck and the Rev. Nathan Smith, concerning refinement in the organization of Christian Churches.

Rev. Newborn is a graduate of Tennessee State University and Howard University School of Religion. He also took graduate work at Kent State University and Northwestern University. Rev. Newborn has served as pastor of the Gay-Lea Christian Church of Nashville, chaplain to migrant farm workers for the Pennsylvania Council of Churches, assistant minister of the 12th St. Christian Church of Washington and as student assistant at the Howard University chapel of Washington.

He served as president of the student body at Howard University, counselor at the Washington School for Delinquent Girls, was a member of the Advisory Board of the Urban League of Canton, vice president of the Ohio Christian Missionary Convention and dean of the School of Religion of the Canton Council of Churches.

At Canton, Rev. Newborn is serving on the Board of Managers of the YMCA, the NAACP housing committee, the executive committee of the Canton Council of Churches, the teaching staff of the Canton public school system, the Christian education committee of the Canton Council of Churches and the new church committee of the Ohio Society of Christian Churches.

He spoke at the holiness meeting at 11 a. m.

A spanking given by The Old Woman Who Lives in a Shoe gets the concerned attention of Jinny Russell, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Russell of Center St., Wellsville.

Nursery Rhyme Land

By HARRY STEWART

The wonderful world of fantasy is being vividly portrayed for area children through the efforts of a Wellsville woman who builds figures with papier-mache.

It is through her love for children that Mrs. Alma Russell, 957 Main St., got started in the fascinating hobby.

Most of her work is on display in the children's room at the Wellsville Carnegie Library, where she works on a part-time basis as a library assistant.

Mrs. Russell says her work is not professional, pointing out there are others, such as a woman she knows in Steubenville, who are very proficient in the art. She says she is constantly learning and bettering her own technique.

Presently exhibited at the library are many characters taken from rhymes in Mother Goose. Also on display are figures of Jack and the Bean Stalk, Pinocchio, Jimmy Cricket, the Old Lady in the Shoe, Little Bo Peep, Raggedy Ann and Andy and Little Red Riding Hood.

The Giant in the story of Jack and the Beanstalk is suspended from the ceiling.

MRS. RUSSELL is quick to explain that there really was a "Mother Goose." She said she lived in Boston, Mass., had 10 children and her first husband died. She then married a gentleman by the name of Mr. Goose, who also had 10 children.

Mr. Goose then died, leaving the woman with 20 children to care for, Mrs. Russell said, adding it is rumored that when Mrs. Goose died, she was murmuring the rhyme about Humpty-Dumpty.

Mrs. Russell started making the figures because of her affection for children in general, her own grandchildren and her love for books.

She said it pleased the youngsters to see the figures and so she keeps on making more. She also reports it is a wonderful therapy and urged anyone feeling badly try working in this manner. "You get so busy you don't have time to feel bad," she commented.

Three large witches, taken from Shakespeare's Macbeth, are currently displayed at the Immaculate Conception Catholic School. One of the teachers told her the figures have created a great interest among the children for the plays of Shakespeare.

Mrs. Russell has been asked by several persons to teach a class in the art, but says she is not capable of this. She pointed out there are several books on the subject.

Mrs. Russell uses the money she receives from her 15-hour week at the library to secure materials and supplies.

SHE SAID she uses just about anything. Strips of wall-paper, for example, are used to fashion a skirt for Miss Red Riding Hood. The cardboard tube from inside a roll of linoleum can be used to make candles.

Mrs. Russell says there are numerous possibilities for making characters. She has one of Emmett Kelly, the famous clown; Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer; Santa Claus, Bambi, and others.

The present display will be changed in the near future for Christmas characters.

Old coat hangers are utilized for the strength inside the coating of papier-mache. First they are wrapped with paper, built up and then the papier-mache is applied.

Strips of paper are cut and then dipped into a paste that holds it together. Layer, upon layer is added, until the character is formed.

There is no secret about the paste — it is simply one cup of dry starch mixed with a quart of water. This is enough for a very large statue, she said.

THE LAYERS HAVE to be added slowly so the entire character will not collapse. The less water used, the better, Mrs. Russell said.

She also pointed out this method is not true papier-mache. The real papier-mache is made by letting the paper soak overnight, to make it pulpy, and then forming it like clay, or grinding up the paper and adding it to paste.

She said all sizes of strips of paper are used. Newspaper paints the best when dried, but for sheer durability, plain paper kitchen towels are used. They don't tear easily, she said. Any kind of paint can be used, such as enamel, poster paints, etc.

It takes about a week to complete one character, because of the time needed to dry.

Mrs. Russell thanked Miss Mary Clark, librarian for providing the necessary space for the displays.

She said her latest creation is the telling of the story of the poem, "Over the river, and through the woods, to grandmother's house we go . . ."

SHE DOES HER work all over the house — some in the kitchen, some in the front room, wherever space is available.

The statues are not small. For example, most are three feet high and the shoe of the Old Woman in the Shoe about four and a half feet long.

Mrs. Russell is the wife of J. Frederick (Bus) Russell, secretary of the Perpetual Savings & Loan Co. and a former councilman.

She said he is very patient about her hobby, pointing out he will purchase paint for her and even carry a large statue up the street with everyone staring.

Mrs. Russell also makes quilts, using fairyland characters for the patterns.

She said she is presently making one with pictures of Heidi, the little Swiss girl, for a granddaughter of the same name. Heidi Jane, 2, is the daughter of 1st Lt. and Mrs. Rolland (Ronnie) Russell of Ft. Ord, Calif.

HER OTHER grandchildren are Sonya, 8, Ricky (J. Frederick Russell II), 6, Dorothy, 5, and David, 1, all Heidi's brothers and sisters. David is getting a quilt with the Biblical characters David and Goliath.

The Russells have another son, Peter, who is a sophomore at Mt. Union College. Mrs. Russell has a quilt for him also — with pictures of Peter Pan. "He'll rave when he hears this," she said.

She also collects old dolls. They are scrubbed and repaired. New clothes are sewn for them and then they are given to some little girl.

"I do it because of the joy of it," she said.

Although she claims none of her endeavors are expert, Mrs. Russell, who has a bubbling personality, certainly enjoys every minute of it.

'King' Keeps Eye On Kids

Wellsville Hawk Enjoys Easy Life

By RUTH URIE

A bird in the hand is worth a lot of curious glances in Wellsville these days, for Darius Hoffman, right, and his twin brother, David, have a red-tailed hawk as a feathered friend.

The two seniors at Wellsville High School, sons of Mr. and Mrs. R. Bruce Hoffman of 816 Broadway, have been nursing the year-old bird since it was found several weeks ago with a broken wing.

The hawk — from a family not notable for sociability and kindly disposition (look at that beak) — has become a friendly neighborhood fixture with a special liking for children.

"King," as the bird has been named by Mrs. Hoffman, seems to enjoy watching youngsters at play from its outside perch, and keeps an eye on the students walking from the nearby McDonald School.

The large bird was discovered by Melvin Gitschier, Ohio Power Co. employee, inside the fence at the utility's Wellsville substation along Lisbon St.

Knowing the Hoffman twins fondness for wildlife, he notified them and Darius took the injured hawk home. Their interest in nature began several years ago when an older brother, Robert, started bringing animals back from trips afield.

Another unusual pet in the Hoffman household is "Perry," a pine squirrel they have had for a year and a half which scampers about the home, hiding nuts in bedclothes and under pillows.

Other wildlife which has shared quarters in the home in past years included an owl, beaver, skunk, muskrat and groundhog.

Darius, who is a Review delivery truck driver, and his brother are avid hunters and trappers.

They feed "King" raw meat, once or twice a day.

A band obtained from the Division of Wildlife has been placed on the leg of the brown, white-breasted bird whose rusty brown tail feathers earn him the name of Red-Tailed Hawk.

"King" has a wingspread of over three feet and weighs about four pounds or more.

When twilight approaches, he calls it a day and heads into a large wooden box, formerly occupied by a fox the Hoffmans had.

"King" is not tied or chained, and flies hesitantly about the yard, perhaps working up courage or determination to take off on his own.

With the easy life and pleasant companionship of Broadway, along with the daily handouts of meat, "King" may make a career of it in Wellsville.

You And The Law

When the Smiths decided to add a room to their house, John called a contractor.

After a discussion of the type of room needed, the contractor made some sketches on the back of an old envelope and stated that he would do the job for $2,500. Joe, the contractor, seemed like a nice fellow, so the Smiths verbally agreed to his doing the job.

The job took about one month. John noticed that there were lots of other men working around the house besides Joe. There was an electrician; a plumber to put in the new bathroom fixtures; a tile man to put in the floor; a roofer to put on the new shingles, and a painter.

ONE DAY Joe, the contractor, called and stated that the job was completed and that he would be happy to have their check for $2,500. The next morning John mailed Joe a check marked "paid in full for room addition."

In a week the Smiths received written notices from the electrician, from the plumber, from the tile man, from the roofer and the painter that they had filed mechanic's and materialmen's liens against John's house in varying sums, totaling $2,000.

John immediately called Joe, but he had left town.

Quite alarmed, John called his attorney and discovered that all of Joe's sub-contractors, the electrician, plumber, tile man, roofer and painter, now have the right to foreclose the mechanic's and materialmen's liens, which they filed against the Smiths' house, because Joe, the contractor, had not paid them.

THE SMITHS' attorney, after a thorough investigation of the facts and an examination of the liens and the notices served, succeeded in compromising the $2,000 worth of lien claims and getting releases for $1,500.

Therefore, John and Mary Smith spent $4,000 to get a $2,500 room built. What could they have done in advance to prevent paying nearly twice what they had agreed to pay?

1.—Enter into a detailed written contract with the contractor, specifying the work to be done, the price to be received, completion date, and see that it is properly dated and signed.

2.—Get the name of anyone who does work on the job and require the contractor to obtain lien waivers prior to turning over the contract price upon completion.

3.—Use care in the selection of your contractor.

4.—Seek the assistance of counsel in drafting the contract and in closing the deal.

Who's Who In World Of Students

Richard House, 18-year-old senior at Midland's Lincoln High School, is one fellow who knows his way around the study hall about as well as he does the basketball courts.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. House of 703 Virginia Ave., Dick has been a member of Hank Kuzma's winning Leopards basketball squads for three years.

He is a member of the National Honor Society and president of the Student Council. A fancier of the irons and woods, he has also been a member of the school golf team.

Dick is in part responsible for making sure that all at the school are well informed on all activities, being in charge of daily announcements over the public address system, and is responsible for keeping the new announcement board in front of the gymnasium up to date. He is also announcer for school assembly programs.

After graduation, Dick plans to enter Grove City College where he will major in business administration.

It's Like Mosquito In A Nudist Colony

TORONTO (AP) — "I feel like a mosquito in a nudist colony," says Walter Koerber, director of the new youth branch of the Ontario department of education.

Koerber, has spent the last six months surveying all agencies, organizations and services related to youth in Ontario. He will submit specific proposals based on his findings to the department of education.

"This is a massive field," he said. "We want to know what youth thinks, what education he has, what his problems are and what his future might be."

If and when this total picture is achieved, the branch will be able to give educationists a balanced sense of direction, he said. It will ensure, for example, that technical schools are not training youths for jobs that do not exist.

These festive cookies will highlight any holiday party or family affair. The recipe was sent in by Mrs. Ella Smith, 126 E. 6th St.

GREEK COOKIES

½ lb. butter
1½ cups white sugar
6 eggs
½ shot whisky
1 tsp. vanilla
4 tsp. baking powder
flour to thicken

Mix this basic recipe as you would any cookie dough, kneading in as much flour as needed. Roll out on floured cloth or board and cut with cookie cutters into any desired shape. An attractive cookie is made when rolled into an oblong shape and braided.

Brush with unbeaten egg white. Bake at 350 degrees for about 10 minutes or until nicely brown. For some very tasty variations, sprinkle with coconut or nuts before baking, add nuts to the dough when mixing, or ice after baking. This recipe makes about 4 doz.

Flea Mystery Solved

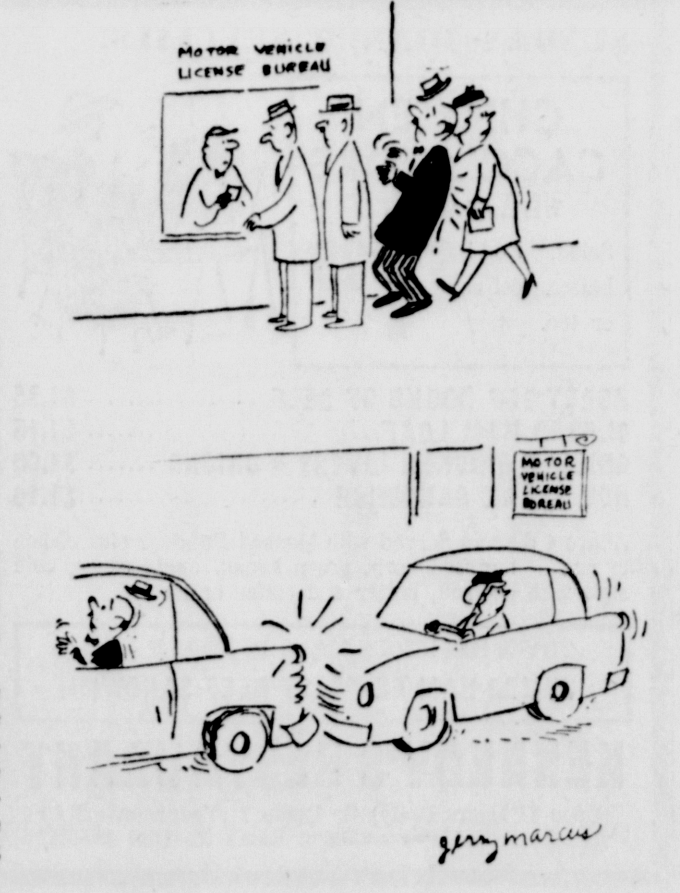

Why do fleas jump?

The National Pest Control Association, headquartered at Elizabeth, N. J., says the long-sought answer has finally been found.

It's the stimulating effect of carbon dioxide — CO₂, chemically speaking — upon fleas, as well as mosquitoes, that causes these insects to suddenly hop out of a crack in the floor and bit you, says Dr. Philip J. Spear, association technical director.

Reporting on the results of a research project at the University of Tokyo, Dr. Spear said the fleas may remain almost dormant in cracks or crevices until stimulated by carbon dioxide exuded from a warm-blooded animal through its breathing.

The carbon dioxide, he explains, causes them to spring violently and almost blindly through the air at

Moose Auxiliary

City Group Marks Anniversary

With the distinction of being an affiliate of the only fraternity that serves members of the family from the cradle to the grave, the East Liverpool Chapter 642 of Women of the Moose observes its 26th birthday anniversary this week.

The auxiliary of the Loyal Order of the Moose was organized Nov. 6, 1938 by Dr. Della Bauer of Barberton with 34 charter members. The first officers were Mrs. Pauline Ward, senior regent; Mrs. Fay Smith, recorder; Mrs. Caroline Chadwick, junior regent; Mrs. Lena Moore, chaplain; Mrs. Katherine Pritchard, past regent; Mrs. Elsie McVay, treasurer; Mrs. Helen Wilson, Argus; Mrs. Violet Davidson, sentinel; Mrs. Elva Babb, guide and Mrs. Edith Boyer Jr., governess.

There are 11 chairmanships responsible for promoting the ideas of the organization — homemaking, child care, library, membership, ritual, Mooseheart, Moosehaven, college of regents and academy of friendship.

The House of God, located at Mooseheart, Ill., is the home established for children and widows of members. Each child is reared in the religion of the parents, whether it be Catholic, Protestant or Jew.

It houses one of the world's largest tubular carillons of 64 bells, equipped to be manually operated or played from "player piano rolls" automatically.

Moosehaven, located near Jacksonville, Fla., is a model community for old folks. On the 68-acre estate are homes one story brick construction which can accommodate from 12 to 58 people. There are other smaller homes and an adjoining 100-acre Moosehaven dairy farm. All the comforts

Stamps In The News

To honor the centenary of the foundation of its Folk High Schools, Norway has issued two new postage stamps, reports the Norwegian Post Office in Oslo. The 50 ore red and the 90 ore blue bear the neo-norse form "Noreg" as the country's name plus a double portrait of the Folk School founders, Herman Anker and Olaus Arvesen.

The Folk High Schools have been of great importance to the cultural progress in Norway. Originally the schools were privately endowed but now are state subsidized. There are 74 such schools in Norway with 5,800 pupils.

The 1965 edition of the Minkus New American Stamp Catalog has just been released and is expected to be a sell-out just as the previous 11 editions of this book. One of the major reasons for its popularity has been its readability — large type with plenty of white space and explanations of technical matters in layman's language. Credit for this excellent compilation goes to editor Ben Blumenthal. Contributing editors are H. L. Lindquist and George A. Tlamsa.

It contains over 21,000 illustrations covering all commemoratives, regular issues, airmails, duck stamps, postal savings, revenues, postal cards and stationery, Confederate States, U.S. Possessions and stamps of the United Nations. The cost of the edition is $3 and can be purchased at your local stamp dealer.

Austria has issued two new stamps of unusual design. One stamp honors the 40th anniversary of radio in Austria. The 1 schilling black, brown and red adhesive shows the front of a transistor radio and the emblem of the Austrian Radio System. The other new stamp is a 1.50 schilling black commemorating the 6th Congress of the International Graphical Federation." Depicted is an old printing press.

Health, Safety Tips

Old King Cold is a king-sized troublemaker.

The American Medical Association's new pamphlet on the common cold reports that Old King Cold costs the United States $5 billion annually in lost wages, lost production and medical expenses.

More than 150 million days per year are lost from our work force. More than 20 million people suffer from colds on any given wintry day. The common cold is the most costly ailment in our country, as well as in most other countries.

The common cold is defined as an acute upper respiratory tract inflammation that ordinarily is communicable and is caused by viruses. But this definition has little meaning since the popular use of the word "cold" includes everything from a minor sniffle and a nasal obstruction to a disabling illness similar to influenza.

A NUMBER of viruses produce the symptoms we call a cold, possibly as many as a hundred. The true cold is an infection with one or more viruses.

Current research seems to indicate that colds are harder to catch than has been thought. In controlled studies, close contact for several hours was necessary before cross infection occurred. Fresh colds appear to be more contagious than older ones. And children's colds have been shown to be more contagious than those of adults. Even apparently well persons may harbor cold viruses and may infect others.

Low temperatures and inclement weather, in themselves, probably have little to do with precipitating colds. Dampness and chill have been suspected of causing colds, but experimental evidence now indicates that they are probably only triggering factors. The relative humidity of the air may be important, however.

There is a sharp rise in incidence of colds at the time the winter heating season begins. The lowered humidity in heated rooms causes the dry nose and throat which contributes to susceptibility to infection.

The nose, throat and lungs work better when the air that is breathed has a relative humidity of about 45 per cent. Dry mucous membranes cannot clean themselves by action of their cilia, the hairlike structures that move mucus upward out of the respiratory tract. As a result they become more vulnerable to invasion by cold viruses.

NO SPECIFIC treatment, so far available, is effective against the cold virus. Any treatment must be directed toward relief of the symptoms and prevention of complications.

The wonder drugs — antibiotics and sulfas — have no effect on viruses. They should be used only under medical supervision for the control of complicating bacterial infections. Bed rest, or at least inactivity in a controlled environment, is helpful. Your doctor may suggest mild medication to help allay the discomfort.

Those who have repeated colds should investigate the possibility of allergies being mistaken for colds. Current cold vaccines are of little value, since so many viruses cause colds and effective vaccines have been developed for so few of the viruses producing cold symptoms.

Solid evidence is lacking to demonstrate that "natural" foods, taking vitamin supplements, special types of clothing, or forced exposure to sunlight and fresh air have any effect on susceptibility to colds.

The annual American Stamp Dealers Assn. National Postage Stamp Show will be held in New York, Nov. 20-22. In addition to outstanding exhibition frames from various dealers there will be special displays from the U.S. Post Office Department including material rarely seen outside the Postal Museum in the nation's capital. Also on display will be private exhibits including the famed Cardinal Spellman material from Regis College.

The British Crown Agents report that St. Kitts will commemorate its forthcoming Arts Festival by overprinting the 3 cents and 25 cents values in the current definitive series with the wording "Arts Festival St. Kitts 1964." The 3 cents depicted the Gateway at Hell Fort. The 25 cents showed a white crowned pigeon. Both bore vignette portraits of Queen Elizabeth.

Czechoslovakia has issued a set of six new stamps for the Olympic Games in Tokyo. The designs feature such sports as cycling, track and field, football, rowing, swimming and a weight lifting. This is the second set that Czechoslovakia has issued for the occasion.

Spadea Designer Pattern

Anne Klein of Jr. Sophisticates knows what every woman knows. There is absolutely nothing more devastatingly flattering for a girl than white linen collars and cuffs. (And the girl may be from seven to seventy.)

She cuts a very simple A-line dress with only 3 main pattern pieces that skirts the figure with light and grace. Some of the young have never known the elegance of long narrow set-in sleeves, now the new rage.

The original was made in black velvet with jet buttons, but the design takes to grey flannel, navy wool, tweed, faille, shantung, linen, and cotton. Spadea's exclusive ready-to-wear sizes produce a better fit. See chart for size best for you.

Hit-Skip Vehicle Strikes Home At Monroe, Drury

Police pressed a search today for a hit-skip vehicle that damaged the foundation and siding of a home at Monroe St. and W. Drury Ln.

Mrs. Edgar Crable, 413 Monroe St., told officers Friday an unidentified driver left the scene without stopping after his vehicle struck her home sometime Thursday night or Friday morning.

She said she discovered the damage about 9 a. m. It was confined to the Drury Ln. side of the property, according to Patrolman Jerry F. Adkins, who investigated.

Meanwhile, Oris Edward Wilburn, 21, of Port Clinton was identified as the driver of a tractor-trailer rig which damaged a traffic signal Thursday at E. 5th and Walnut Sts.

The trucker was traced through a license number which a witness turned over to Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey, officers said. Wilburn was driving a rig leased from the Hertz Corp. at Toledo by the Sandusky Metal Products Co. of Sandusky, officers reported.

Wilburn told Patrolman Orin C. Smith he felt the trailer of his rig bumped the signal. He said he stopped and checked, noting the signal was swinging, but believed it was undamaged.

Hearing For Sandusky Engineer Set Nov. 30

FREMONT, Ohio (AP) — A hearing for Sandusky County Engineer Dean Morgan on charges filed by the Public Employees Union of Toledo has been set for Nov. 30 in County Court here by Judge George Reinbolt. The judge set the hearing date Friday after overruling a defense motion to dismiss the charges. Morgan pleaded innocent.

Morgan is charged here and in courts at Clyde and Woodville with failure to comply with regulations of the Ohio Department of Industrial Relations requiring the reporting of wage standards of county employees doing road work.

TV Station Engineer Killed In Shaft Fall

CINCINNATI (AP)—Bob Watson, 44, an engineer for WKRC television station in Cincinnati, was found dead Friday at the bottom of a 50-foot shaft at a construction site at Meldahl Dam on the Ohio River, east of here.

Authorities said Watson apparently fell into the shaft sometime Thursday night. WKRC said Watson had been working on a radio on the Charles K. Towboat. He evidently went to look over the construction site and fell into the shaft.

There is no limit to the number of times a U.S. senator may be re-elected.

Band Mothers Appeal Again On Trading Stamps

The ELHS Band and Orchestra Mothers renewed an appeal today for books of trading stamps to be redeemed for cash for the twin marching bands' trip to Philadelphia.

The trading stamp drive began a week ago but Mrs. George Fletcher, chairman, said the response has been poor. The drive is scheduled to close next Saturday. Only a few books have been turned in.

The mothers have been authorized by Plaid and S. & H. Stamp firms to collect the books for redemption in cash. Proceeds would be used for costs of transportation and lodging for the musicians in their appearance in the nationally-televised Thanksgiving Day parade at Philadelphia. Donors may phone 386-5747.

Promotions Won By 2 In Germany

Two East Liverpool area servicemen in Germany have won Army promotions.

John D. Leishman, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond D. Leishman, 600 Jefferson St., Salslineville, was promoted to specialist fourth class with the 3rd Armored Division. An automotive repairman in Co. C of the 122nd Maintenance Battalion, he is stationed near Friedberg. A 1962 graduate of Southern Local High School, he was at Aberdeen, Md., before going overseas in July 1963.

George W. Brooks Jr., 25, son of Mrs. Mildred R. Brooks of Georgetown R.D. 1, also was elevated to specialist fourth class with the 34th Signal Battalion.

A courts and boards clerk in the Headquarters Co., he arrived overseas last February after basic training at Ft. Gordon, Ga. He is a 1959 graduate of South Side High School and worked for Riverview Florists before entering the Army in July 1963.

Jury Is Dismissed In Man's Attack Trial

JEFFERSON, Ohio (AP) — Unable to reach a verdict, a jury was dismissed Friday night in the trial of Victor Sallee, 25, of Ashtabula, charged with raping a 15-year-old girl Feb. 4.

The jury received the case at 11 a.m. and reported shortly after 8 p.m. that it was hopelessly deadlocked. Common Pleas Judge Roland Pontius discharged the jurors and said he would set a date later for a new trial.

Members Of Congress Planning Trip Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP) — Faraway places — the glitter of Paris, the sunny shores of Hawaii and Jamaica, the exotic lands of the East — are beckoning and many members of Congress are answering the call. They will soon be off on official trips.

Stay-at-home taxpayers will pick up the tabs for these journeys which critics of Congress call junkets.

But defenders of legislative customs say it is proper for those who have to decide on such things as foreign aid, international agreements, the building of bases abroad and the like, to see firsthand what is being done with the taxpayers' money.

As one committee aide put it when he said his group has no travel plans, "I'm not proud of it. I think we should have."

At any rate, Congress is in recess, the big election campaign is over, and many suitcases are being packed.

The list of congressional trips already planned includes: Attendance by a large group at the NATO parliamentarians' meeting next week in Paris, a regularly scheduled event.

Inspection by members of the House Science and Astronautics Committee of a number of installations in the Far East and the Pacific, especially along the satellite tracking line.

A study of housing and urban problems in Hawaii by members of the House Subcommittee on housing.

Attendance by members of the House Judiciary Committee at the semiannual meeting of the Intergovernmental Committee on European Migration, in Geneva.

A trip by House Agriculture members to the Near East and Africa to study the program for using farm surpluses abroad.

Hints from Heloise

- By Heloise Cruse -

Dear Heloise: Some of us gals have such short arms that when we buy a blouse that fits, the sleeves are too long . . . and it's so much trouble to remove the cuffs and shorten the sleeves on every blouse.

Take a tuck on the OUTSIDE of the sleeve, near the cuff itself (either by hand or machine). This will bring the sleeve up to its proper length and lend STYLE to your blouse! (Looks like a little pleat.) I recently saw a very expensive blouse with this same sleeve.

Better yet, the most expensive one had three small tucks about an inch apart near the cuff. (This way, if your blouse shrinks, you can remove one tuck.)

SHORTIE PIE.

DEAR HELOISE: When roasting a turkey or a chicken, I line the cavity of the fowl with aluminum foil, using a piece long enough to cover the opening.

I fill the cavity as usual with dressing, and when the turkey is cooked, all I have to do is to pull out the foil and the dressing comes with it. No dressing is wasted or left in the bird.

MRS. JAMES ELEMES.

DEAR HELOISE: When putting trading stamps in a book, instead of using a sponge, I use an ice cube in a facial tissue to dampen the stamps. This way I never get them too wet.

L.W.

DEAR HELOISE: I would like to write a word of caution to your readers who use kerosene burners or are going to put kerosene on wood to burn.

Do not turn on the oil or put the kerosene onto the wood until you have the matches ready to light it.

Recently I put some kerosene on to start a wood fire and by the time I had hunted for the matches and lighted one to ignite the fire, enough gas had formed so that the stove exploded — it even moved the stove.

Also, never stand in front of such a stove or heater when you light it. It might mean disaster.

H.L.A.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: Can you tell me what time of the year Mary goes over the mountain? It is an old weather saying of my grandparents, but I can't seem to find anyone who knows the whole saying or when the moon (Mary) is supposed to go.

M. C. STEWART.

Anyone know?

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: We had three old sun porch rugs we intended to discard. Then we got the bright idea of putting one on our porch, one on the walk leading to the street, and the other on the cement leading directly to the garage door.

Now when it snows heavily or rain freezes to ice, we just pick up the rugs, shake them off, and we have less shoveling to do. Of course, the rugs have to be rough - textured, such as hemp.

My sister found several old rugs in a Goodwill store for a couple of dollars and uses them for the same thing.

E.U.K.

DEAR HELOISE: For those who feed wild birds, I have a suggestion: I take one-inch-chicken-mesh wire, wrap a piece of this around a piece of suet and tie it to a tree limb. The birds can cling to this wire basket while they eat, but cannot carry away the suet.

BIRD WATCHER.

DEAR HELOISE: Did you ever make a cup of tea and have the tag of the tea bag fall into the tea?

Just twist the string and the tag onto the handle of the teacup, then pour.

Isn't that a good idea? My husband thought that one up.

MRS. Wm. COUGHLIN.

You have a good man. Hold onto him!

HELOISE.

West Virginia Board Sets Utilities' Tax Evaluations

CHARLESTON (AP) — Next year's property tax payments of 331 public utility companies operating in West Virginia will be based on property valuations totaling $874.4 million, up $11.7 million from 1964.

Final 1965 valuations fixed by the State Board of Public Works were announced by the board Friday. The board scaled down by $2.4 million the tentative 1965 valuations drawn up in September valuations drawn up in September by the Tax Department.

Between announcement of the tentative figures and board action this week setting final valuations were three days of hearings at which utilities had an opportunity to protest the Tax Department recommendations.

Assessed valuations for most categories of utilities are up somewhat from 1964. Construction of new generating plants and other improvements boosted the over - all valuation of the physical property of 25 electric companies by $16.2 million, to $225.8 million.

However, the total valuation of physical property of 18 railroads is down almost $19.1 million, at $289.3 million.

This is in line with a continuing effort to equalize railroad valuations generally with those of other property. The railroads have long maintained that their valuations for tax purposes in West Virginia have been at a higher percentage of actual value than those of other property.

County property tax levy rates will be applied to the board-determined valuations in figuring the utilities' property tax bills for 1965.

The 1965 valuations include totals of $39,204,500 on Class I property, up $5,606,600 from 1964, and $833,195,900 on Classes III and IV, up $6,065,400.

Real estate and other physical property is in Classes III outside municipalities and IV in side municipalities. These are usually the only classes at issue in the board hearings.

Class I property, ordinarily not in dispute, consists of stocks, notes, accounts receivable and other evidences of indebtedness.

The largest individual valuations in Classes III and IV are: Norfolk & Western Railway, $128,000,000, up $2,000,000 from 1964; Appalachian Power Co., $115,600,000, up $1,100,000; Chesapeake & Ohio Railway, $95,000,000, down $7,500,000; Monongahela Power Co., $72,000,000, up $2,000,000, and United Fuel Gas Co., $65,600,000, up $2,000,000.

The Tax Department had recommended a cut of $3,000,000 to $99,500,000 for the C&O, but the board trimmed the valuation further to $95,000,000.

Biggest decrease as the cut of $10,000,000, to $49,000,000 in the Class III and IV valuation of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. This was attributed to declining business on the B&O, now affiliated with the C&O, combined with the effort to equalize railroad valuations.

City And Wellsville Men Get Loan Posts

A city man and one from Wellsville have been appointed to committees of the Ohio Savings & Loan League.

Alwyn C. Purinton Jr., secretary of the Pottery Savings & Loan Co., has been named chairman of the legislative committee, while Fred Huston of Wellsville has been named to the public relations committee. Their appointments were announced by F. Lester Jonte, league president. Purinton is second vice president of the Ohio League.

Huston is president of Central Federal Savings & Loan Association at Wellsville.

Officer Dies; Was Victim Of Ambush

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Police Lt. Allen Fraley, victim of a gunman's ambush, died Friday night a few hours after his accused assailant was captured in front of a north side residence following one of the most extensive manhunts in Columbus history.

The 42-year-old police officer, one of the best liked men on the force, died of a bullet wound in the abdomen despite extraordinary efforts to save his life.

Fraley, shot down Thursday while investigating an attempted rape case, had undergone 14 hours of surgery and transfusion of some 140 pints of blood before he finally succumbed. Earlier, two detectives arrested 30-year-old Eugene Wylie Duling as he was sitting on the steps of a residence about two blocks from where the shooting occurred.

The detectives said Duling had a .22-caliber revolver but did not attempt to use it. They said he had a homemade splint on a broken left leg, which police believe he suffered when he leaped from a second story window to escape from allegedly shooting Fraley.

Fraley was shot with a .32-caliber pistol, which police say has not been found.

Latta Proposes Bliss As National GOP Head

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Delbert Latta, R-Ohio, has proposed that Ohio Republican Chairman Ray C. Bliss be made GOP National Chairman.

Latta said in a statement Friday that "pros" should now take over the GOP National Committee and the policy of changing chairmen with each presidential election should be abandoned."

Site Discussed For PSU Branch

BEAVER — Beaver County officials and representatives of Penn State University conferred Thursday on the location of a possible campus for an extension branch.

The proposed site is the former Beaver County Hospital annex in Center Township near Monaca.

Representing the university were Dr. Eric Walker, president, Kenneth Holderman and Michael Baker Jr., a trustee, while the county's representatives were Commissioners James Ross, Eli Corak and Arthur Pettibon, Controller James F. Tress and Robert Zapsic, plans director.

An application for the county as one of three possible sites for an extension campus will be submitted to the State Board of Higher Education in January. Prior to submitting the application, a development plan for the site, which the county already owns, will be completed and legal procedures will be studied.

A public hearing may be held after the first of the year to discuss the proposed project.

Potters Strike 3 Times In First Half, Top Salem, 34-14

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

The Salem Quakers battled East Liverpool on even terms in the second half, but it proved a little late since the Potters had struck for three touchdowns in the first half to register a 34-14 victory Friday night.

A crowd of nearly 5,000 turned out at Salem in ideal football weather to see the two county schools meet for the 49th time.

With fullback Denny Burke and halfback Pat Chema carrying the offensive load on their shoulders, Coach Bob McNea's squad captured its seventh victory in nine starts, with a loss and a tie showing on the record.

BURKE and Chema accounted for all five touchdowns. Burke scored three times on runs inside the 10, while Chema went over from the one and was on the receiving end of a pass thrown by quarterback Bob Maltarich covering 32 yards.

The victory matched the number of triumphs recorded by the Potters last season. East Liverpool will close out its 1964 campaign next week against the strong Alliance Aviators.

SALEM proved no pushover Friday night and Coach Don Clarico's Quakers didn't look as bad as the 3-6 record they carry.

Statistics show Salem was an even match in the second half, but a fumble which halted a drive the first time they got the ball in the half proved costly to the Quakers.

Salem had a 16-14 edge in first downs and gained a net of 165 yards to East Liverpool's 237. With 74 yards passing, the Potters showed a total offense of 311, while Salem added 35 in the air for 200.

McNea was satisfied with his team's offense, but again pointed to the weaknesses in the defense.

"We have had so many injuries that we are trying different ones at new positions and I am quite concerned over our defense," he explained.

The Potter coach said junior tackle Len Walker probably will miss the Alliance game as the result of a knee injury in the third quarter last night and Clarence Crable was nursing a twisted ankle through most of the game.

THE QUAKERS couldn't put two good halves together, gaining only a net 48 yards in the first two periods.

Chuck Joseph, a hard running 178-pound fullback, the bread and butter guy of the Quakers, scored both Salem touchdowns.

Burke Nets 3 TD's, Chema Scores 2

The Potters built up a 20-0 halftime lead, heading goalward the first time after Tom Conery recovered Salem's only fumble on the Potter 32.

SALEM had driven from its own 22 to the Potter 32 when Bob Coy bobbled the football.

A 34-yard run by Chema, followed later by a 13-yard jaunt were the big gains for the Potters on their 68-yard touchdown drive. Burke capped the march with 2:21 left in the first quarter going over from nine yards out.

The Potters were knocking again early in the second period when a short punt by Salem put the Blue and White on the Quaker 38.

SIX PLAYS later Burke shot into the end zone from three yards out for a 12-0 lead as a pass failed to connect for the conversion.

Salem threatened again following the Potters' second score.

A fine catch by Mike Swetey of a pass from Tod Chappel put the Quakers in business on the Potter 17, but East Liverpool's defensive troops dug in and key plays by tackles Chuck Taylor and Len Walker and guard Tom Leon pushed the Quakers back to their 20, where the Potters took over on downs.

Before the half ended East Liverpool beat the clock by 23 seconds for its third touchdown of the half.

TWO PASSES from Maltarich to Burkhardt were the big plays. The second completion carried to the Salem one. Chema then took a short pitchout from Maltarich, with Burke faking well, and went in from the one.

A Maltarich-to-Goodballet pass netted the conversion.

Joseph and Dyer Scott, a hard-running halfback, got Salem moving to its first touchdown.

The Quakers recovered a Potter fumble, Goodballet losing the ball on the Potter 45. A 15-yard run by Scott carried to the East Liverpool 17 and a five-yard off-side penalty plus a nine-yard jaunt by Cody Goard took the Quakers to the one, from where Joseph, after three tries, went in for the TD.

SALEM controlled the ball almost all of the third quarter, but the Potters scored when they did get their hands on it.

In control at midfield, East Liverpool became fired up after the Salem TD and moved to the Salem 32 after Maltarich had gained 18 yards. A play later the clever Potter quarterback hit Chema with a short pass to the left flat and the Potter back, faking opponents out of their shoes, raced 30 yards for the score.

Salem marched 76 yards the next time the ball came its way. Joseph, Scott and Goard did the carrying as the Quakers stuck strictly to the ground. Joseph finally went over with 5:13 left in the game.

AN ONSIDE kick by Salem almost worked following its second touchdown, but Chuck Taylor finally fell on the ball for the Potters on the ELHS 37.

A 35-yard sprint by Burke from the Salem 37 to the 2 set up the final Potter touchdown. Burke then cracked over from the 2 with 1:05 left in the game.

Taylor, Walker, Tom Logan and Burke led the Potters' defensive forces, with Logan coming up with several sharp tackles.

Walker was removed in the third quarter with a leg injury.

Springfield Surprises Wellsville With 28-22 Victory

Thornton Slowed, Tigers Drop Sixth

Beating Wellsville out of the runnerup spot in the Buckeye Border Conference, Springfield Local came up with a surprising 28-22 upset Friday night in a wild - scoring fray at the Jefferson County school.

The defeat also cost the Tigers a chance to gain a split in Woods' seventh campaign as their record fell to 3-6 over all, and 2-2 in the conference, where Toronto leads with a perfect mark.

SPRINGFIELD, led by John Zak's pair of touchdowns and a strong passing game by quarterback Robert Maple, chalked up its sixth victory against three defeats. The Flying Tigers thus moved into second place in the conference with a 4-1 mark.

Wellsville's highly - touted sophomore star, Chris Thornton, was checked with a lone touchdown, and it didn't come on a play from scrimmage.

Thornton got his only tally on a 45-yard punt return. Needing only 136 yards to hit 1,000 yards gained for the season, Thornton finished short of the mark last night, but has one game remaining in which to become the first Tiger player to do it in one season.

SPRINGFIELD scored at a steady pace, with tallies in the first, second and final quarters, while Wellsville crowded its 22 points into the second period—two on long runs and a third on a long pass play.

A punt by the Tigers' Tom Miller that carried from the Wellsville eight to only the 23 set up Springfield's first tally.

Zak went over from the one. A pass from Maple to Sanders was good for the conversion and an 8-0 lead.

A 23-YARD run around left end by Zak in the second period staked Springfield to a 14-0 lead, with Maple's pass for the conversion failing.

The Tigers then moved out to a 22-14 lead with three quick scores.

The first was on Miller's 65-yard dash around right end, his second long run for Wellsville in two games. A pass by Harry Thornton for the conversion was unsuccessful.

PICKING up a Springfield punt, Chris Thornton raced 45 yards down the sidelines, and Harry Thornton passed to end Pat Welch for the conversion to knot the score at 14-14.

Minutes later, Harry Thornton fired a 58-yard pass to Ed Boso for the third Wellsville score of the period. A pass to Welch for the conversion gave the Tigers a 22-14 halftime lead.

The third quarter was scoreless, but found Wellsville threatening twice. The Tigers moved to the Springfield 15, but ran out of downs, and were held short at the Springfield six after Miller blocked a punt that was downed by Dick Hall, sophomore, at the Springfield 16.

Springfield took over there and marched goalward. Maple passed to Sanders to the Springfield 49, then 51 yards to Sanders for a touchdown, cutting Wellsville's lead to 22-20.

Later, Zak reeled off a 35-yard run to the Wellsville 25, Maple passed to Sanders to the 10, Maple ran to the five and Marshall covered the remaining yardage to end the scoring at 28-22.

Oak Glen Bows To Moundsville, 24-13

Bears' Record Even At 4-4

A month ago Oak Glen sported a 4-1 record at the halfway point of the campaign.

Now with the season one game from conclusion, the Golden Bears stand 4-4-0.

Their losing streak reached four straight Friday night at Moundsville where the Trojans tallied twice in the opening quarter and again in the final one for a 24-13 victory.

THE UPSET victory snapped a seven-game losing streak for Moundsville, a winner only once before last night.

A fast halfback named Williamson sparked Moundsville with three touchdowns, two on runs of 88 and 59 yards.

The Trojans piled up a big edge in statistics, particularly in rushing with 216 yards to 103 by Oak Glen.

Moundsville struck twice in the first quarter, the first time through the air when quarterback Fahey tossed 15 yards to end Parsons. The attempted conversion kick by Wolf failed. The score came after the opening kick off by Oak Glen.

AFTER intercepting an Oak Glen pass to stop a deep penetration, Moundsville's Williamson shook loose and went 88 yards for the second score of the period. Wolf's kick again failed.

In the scoreless second period, the Trojans threatened twice. Oak Glen checked one drive on downs at its six-yard line and the halftime gun stopped the other with the Trojans on the Oak Glen three.

Coach Robert Starkey's Bears moved in for two scores in the third quarter to take a 13-12 lead.

THEY DROVE 75 yards on the opening kickoff of the second half, with the big play a 59-yard pass from quarterback Tom Thayer to end Dan Forsythe. Marvin Six capped the drive with a five-yard run, his conversion run was held short.

End Ray Givens blocked a Moundsville punt to set up Oak Glen's second score. The Bears drove from the Moundsville 42 to the 13, from where Thayer hit Forsythe with a scoring pass, and Neil Rayle ran over the conversion for the 13-12 lead.

Moundsville regained the lead on a 35-yard drive, with Williamson going over on a one-yard buck. The score came after Oak Glen punted from deep in its territory. Givens blocked the attempted kick by Wolf.

The Trojans tacked on the final score when Williamson got loose for 59 yards. A pass for the conversion failed.

Oak Glen will close its season next week at Winterville against one of Ohio's stronger teams.

How the Top Ten teams in the Associated Press Ohio High School football poll fared Friday night:

Louisville Star Scores 3 Times, Bulldogs Fall, 32-0

LOUISVILLE — Fifth - ranked Louisville, with all-state candidate Bob Gladieux scoring three times on long dashes, stopped East Palestine, 32-0, here Friday night.

The victory was the ninth straight of the season and the Leopards continued to shut out Tri-County opponents. The 32 points though represent the lowest total scored by Louisville this season.

The Leopards scored single touchdowns in the first three periods and twice in the fourth quarter.

Gladieux galloped 53 yards for his first, 70 yards on another and returned a punt 65 yards for his final six-pointer.

Both teams were even in first downs, 11 each, while Louisville showed 283 yards rushing to the Bulldog's 148.

Sophomore fullback Jim Parker was the leading rusher for East Palestine with 92 yards in 13 carries.

The loss was East Palestine's third in nine games.

Hamilton, Perkins Get 2 TD'S Stanton Whips JU, 26-14

Doug Hamilton, junior halfback, and quarterback Randy Perkins scored two touchdowns each to lead steadily improving Stanton Local to a 26-14 victory over winless Jefferson Union Friday night.

Coach Howard Gilger's Red Raiders stopped JU's aerial attack to roll to their sixth victory in a row to the delight of a big crowd on hand for their final home game of the season.

The Yellow Jackets, losing their ninth in a row under Coach Norm Allison, gambled on their air game, throwing more than 40 passes, only one good for a score. But many were completed for short gains.

JU drew first blood when Robinson passed 10 yards to Hoyman in the second quarter. Stanton tied it up in the same period when Randy Perkins bolted over two yards out.

The Jackets tallied in the third on Hoyman's five-yard run, and a pass from Kelly to Hoyman for the conversion gave the visitors a 14-6 advantage.

Then Stanton struck twice, Hamilton going 75 yards for his eighth touchdown of the year to cut JU's lead to 14-12. Perkins went 35 yards in the same period, and tossed a pass to Wes Burgett for the conversion and Stanton took the lead, 20-14.

Hamilton raced 54 yards for a score in the fourth quarter, his ninth touchdown of the year. A penalty against Stanton nullified a 55 yard scoring run by Jim Pilutti at the end of the fray.

Stanton shows a 6-2-0 record under new Coach Gilger, beaten only by Hopedale and Mount Pleasant by one touchdown each time. The Red Raiders close out the season next Friday at Smithfield, a team that has also lost only two games.

Cappelletti's Late FG Wins For Patriots

By CHARLES MCGILLICUDDY
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP)—Gino Cappelletti, who makes a habit of winning American Football League games for the Boston Patriots with his toe, often in the last few minutes, did it again Friday night.

Cappelletti earned the Patriots a 25-24 victory over the Houston Oilers with a 42-yard field goal on the last play of the game.

The kick saved a must game for Boston, which trails the undefeated Buffalo Bills by two games. Buffalo is at New York Sunday and the Patriots, who haven't met the Bills this season, are hoping for some help from the Jets.

In other Sunday games, Oakland is at Kansas City and San Diego plays at Denver.

The last time Cappelletti won a game with a field goal on the last play a Texas team also was the opponent. In 1961 he gave Boston a win over the old Dallas Texans with his last-second heroics.

"That kick wasn't as far," Cappelletti recalled, "but I remember time was running out and the crowd was counting. I guess I kicked that one about 27 yards."

He said he started thinking about the kick on the way back to the huddle. "I just hoped I'd get a good snap. I was confident the kick wouldn't be blocked."

He said the snap was perfect and he knew the ball was going true as soon as he touched it.

Houston's George Blanda, who set an AFL record by throwing 68 passes a week ago, tried 45 Friday night, hitting on 21 for a total of 329 yards.

Leetonia Beaten By Sebring, 26-0

LEETONIA — Leetonia High wound up its Tri-County League season as an also-ran here Friday night, beaten by league foe Sebring, 26-0.

The Bears finished 3-4 in the league, but stand 5-4 overall.

Sebring, a favorite in this one, scored touchdowns in the first, second and fourth quarters to win handily.

Whitaker passed 82 yards to Bowers for the first tally. Leetonia came back in the second to score on Mel Vanfossan's 18 yard run, the tally set up on a bad 13 yard punt by Sebring from its end zone.

Henderson raced 37 yards with an intercepted pass for a Sebring score in the second quarter.

In the final quarter, Bailey went 40 yards, and Whitaker passed to Henderson for 32 yards. Both touchdowns came in the first, second and fourth quarters to win handily.

Guard Against Surprises

Notre Dame, OSU Seek 7th Straight

By The Associated Press

Notre Dame and Ohio State, the nation's top two major college football teams, were on the lookout today for any surprises two staggering eastern teams might have for them.

The Irish and the Buckeyes each sought their seventh victory without a defeat while four other members of the Top Ten also tried to remain unbeaten. Notre Dame, No. 1, was at Pitt, which had a 2-3-2 record. Second-ranked Ohio State hosted Penn State, 3-4.

The football weekend started Friday night with Miami blanking Tulane 21-0 and Detroit overwhelming Virginia Military 28-7.

Quarterback Bob Biletnikoff passed for one Miami touchdown and set up the other two, tossing three times for 37 yards on the first scoring drive and three times for 36 yards on the third drive. He scored on a four-yard run, capping the final thrust.

Detroit was led by Dick Waring, a Canadian sophomore making his first start. Waring passed for 120 yards and ran for 49 in engineering touchdown marches of 68, 90, 58 and 76 yards.

Ara Parseghian, coaching the Irish to their first winning season since 1958, expected Pitt to unveil a few tricks.

"It seems the teams have been using more wide formations, shotguns and other gadgets against us, like Navy did last week," Parseghian said Friday night. "I'd have to guess that Pitt will have some surprises for us, too."

Skins May Hold Key To NFL Eastern Title

By The Associated Press

The Washington Redskins aren't selling tickets for the National Football League championship game but their lightweight offense may hold the key to the Eastern Division title.

The Redskins met first-place Cleveland Sunday and the Browns, despite their two-game bulge, can't afford a letdown. They have back-to-back dates coming up against Western Division stalwarts Detroit and Green Bay and a loss to Washington conceivably could turn the Eastern race into a dogfight in the season's remaining five weeks.

Washington's attack ranks last in the league and the Redskins have dropped five of eight starts, including a 27-13 decision to the Browns in the season opener. But, with quarterback Sonny Jurgensen finding his groove after a slow start and rookie Charlie Taylor in good running form, they have beat Chicago and Philadelphia in their last two games.

In Sunday's other NFL games the Baltimore Colts go after their eighth straight victory and a tighter hold on the Western Division lead against the floundering Chicago Bears; St. Louis, second in the East despite two straight setbacks, hosts Pittsburgh; Detroit, 1½ games behind the Colts in the West, visits Green Bay; Dallas is at New York; Philadelphia at Los Angeles and San Francisco at Minnesota.

Buffalo's unbeaten Bills face the New York Jets; the San Diego Chargers meet the Denver Broncos and the Oakland Raiders tackle the Kansas City Chiefs in American League Sunday action.

The Boston Patriots nipped the Houston Oilers 25-24 Friday night when Gino Cappelletti booted a 42-yard field goal to the final play of the game.

The Colts walloped Chicago 52-0 in their first meeting and the Bears, 1963 NFL champions, haven't been the same since. They are in the Western Division cellar with a 2-6 mark and have lost ace linebacker Bill George for Sunday's return match.

The Cardinals, beaten by New York 34-17 last week and crippled by injuries to pass catcher Sonny Randle and fullback Joe Childress, are 4-3-1 while Pittsburgh, also short on linebackers because of injuries, is 3-5.

The Eagles and Rams, third in the East and West, respectively, hook up in a battle for survival with the loser virtually eliminated from title contention.

The other NFL pairings are second meetings. The Packers hold a 14-10 decision over the Lions; the Vikings have beaten the 49ers 27-22 and the Giants and Cowboys have played to a 13-13 deadlock.

Braves Moving Fight Returned To State Courts

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee County claimed victory today in the first two rounds of its legal skirmish to prevent the Braves from moving to Atlanta.

The case was returned to state courts Friday as U.S. District Judge Robert E. Tehan denied the baseball club's petition to take jurisdiction.

Judge Tehan ruled after a two-day hearing that the bulk of the Braves' business is carried on in Milwaukee despite the move of executive offices to Chicago Oct. 5 and there is no "diversity of citizenship" as claimed by the club.

The court action returned the case to Milwaukee Circuit Court, where the county obtained a temporary order restraining the Braves from moving Oct. 21, within hours of the club's vote to move to Atlanta in 1965. No date has been set for further circuit court action.

Harnisch Leads By 13 Pins In Bowling Event

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP) — Tom Harnisch of Buffalo carried a slim lead of 13 pins into today's 25 match play games which opened the final rounds of the $60,000 national championship of the Professional Bowlers Association.

Harnisch rolled games of 217, 232, 216, 212, 181 and 196 for a block of 1,254 and a 36-game count of 7,771 pins in Friday night's semifinals that cut the field to 24. Harnisch averaged almost 216 pins for the 36 qualifying games.

In second place was Jim Robinson of Falls Church, Va. who bowled games of 204, 259, 182, 225, 207 and 216 for a total of 7,758.

The 24 finalists will bowl 18 head-to-head games today. On Sunday, the final nine games will be rolled, with the winner receiving $7,500.

Queen Empress Favored In Rich Gardenia Race

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — Queen Empress was the favorite in today's rich Gardenia at Garden State Park and this status could be fatal to the Wheatley Stable's hopes for the big money.

Favorites don't usually win the Gardenia.

The history of the 1 1-16 mile race shows that in the nine previous runnings, the favorite has prevailed only three times. In 1957, Idun was the choice and ran like one. Three years later, Bowl of Flowers rewarded the chalk players at 70 cents on the dollar. And in 1961, Cicada held up at even money.

The winner today, if all 13 start, earns $112,854 of a gross purse of $188,000, both records for the event. Chief contention was expected from Marshua, owned by Mrs. Wallace Gilroy. Marshua has beaten Queen Empress in two of seven head-on meetings.

Only 142 Of 211 Ohio School Tax Levies Approved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Education Association says an unofficial survey of election results shows school districts in Ohio met strong opposition in a bid to win voters approval of additional tax levies.

The OEA said Friday its survey indicates that of the 211 issues on the ballot in Ohio's city, exempted village and local school districts, only 142, or 67.2 per cent, won voter approval. All 211 issues called for increased taxes.

The renewal of existing millage won strong support with 99.4 per cent of the 199 issues approved.

Niles was the only city to reject renewal of existing millage. It voted against 1.9 mills of existing millage along with 5.5 new mills.

Of all tax levies submitted in the state, including renewals, additional millage and combinations of the two, Ohioans approved 84.7 per cent, a slight drop from the 88.4 per cent approval given school levies at the Nov. 7, 1963 general election.

The OEA said that of the 118 school bond issues submitted, only 79, or 66.9 per cent, won approval.

The bond issues approved represented $122,470,936 in money for new buildings or additions to existing structures. Largest of the bond issues approved was $34.6 million issues in Columbus.

Committee Set For Promoting Barry's Theory

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Cincinnati man has announced formation of a committee to raise $15 million in an effort to promote the conservative philosophy of Sen. Barry Goldwater, defeated Republican presidential nominee.

Joseph S. Dumbacher, chairman of the local chapter of Young Americans for Freedom, said the "Committee to Keep the Truth Before the American People," hopes to raise money to "continue to present the conservative point of view . . . (which) coincides with the philosophy" of Goldwater.

He said the group wants to present programs monthly or weekly on national television.

"A number of people throughout the country have expressed a desire to help," said Dumbacher, a professional photographer and businessman.

The vote polled by Goldwater, Dumbacher said, "indicates a growing concern by the American people of the drift from constitutional principles."

Hearing Postponed

SALINEVILLE — A hearing slated Thursday night for Mrs. James Madison of Canton, charged with reckless operation after a sideswipe mishap on W. Main St. Sunday, has been postponed for further investigation, police Chief Earl Lane reported.

LEGAL NOTICES

INVITATION TO BIDDERS
Sealed bids will be received by the Director of Highways, State of Ohio, at the office of the Division of Right-of-Way, Columbus, Ohio, for the purchase and removal of the buildings described in this invitation. The buildings are located in the right of way required for the improvement or relocation of U. S. Route 30, Section 27.10, Columbiana County, Ohio.

Bids are to be submitted only on Right-of-Way forms (R.W. Form 79) prescribed by the Director of Highways. Copies of the Bid Proposal form and pertinent Notice to Bidders containing information regarding each bidder's responsibility may be obtained at the below listed addresses:

IN MEMORIAM

IN memory of our son, Robert Wirth, who passed away twenty years ago Nov. 4, 1944. We have only your memory dear Robert, to cherish our whole life through, but sweetness will linger forever, as we cherish the memory of you, so we shed a tear in silence, and we breathe a sigh of regret, for you are ours to remember. If the whole world should ever forget.
Sadly missed by Mother and Father, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wirth

Junior Editors Quiz on LANGUAGES

QUESTION: How did the Romance languages get that name?

ANSWER: The ancient Romans were very enterprising people. By 300 B. C., they controlled the Italian peninsula up to where Florence now stands; by A. D. 117 their great empire reached completely around the Mediterranean Sea. After conquering a country, the Romans built good roads and frontier forts called "coloniae" or colonies. These grew into towns; Roman settlers came and trade flourished. The Roman language was Latin, but there were two forms of this, the scholarly Latin of the government and the form used by the common people, called vulgar or popular Latin. Through the kind of contacts between Romans and natives which our picture suggests, popular Latin gradually merged with the speech of certain of the conquered countries; and so a group of new languages developed, the most important being Italian, French, Portuguese, Spanish and Romanian. These are called Romance languages because they came from common speech and this was the meaning of the old French words "romanz" or "romans" also the Latin word "romance," meaning something in the Roman fashion. The ordinary people who used these languages like to tell stories of love and adventure, and so these stories were called "romances," a name we still use today.

FOR YOU TO DO: Study this sample to see how the Latin words changed: "centum," in Latin, meant "hundred." But in the Spanish colonies this became "ciento," in the French, "cent," and in Italy itself, "cento."

How Can I?
By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — What's the easiest way to apply liquid wax?
A. — Use a sponge that has been dipped in water, wrung dry, and patted between paper towels to soak up any excess water. This sponge will do a much better job, and waste less wax than a dry one would.

Q. — How can I clean soot out of a fireplace chimney?
A. — One easy and effective method is to place a piece of zinc on a smouldering fire in the fireplace, and the vapors that arise have a way of cleaning off the soot in the chimney by chemical decomposition.

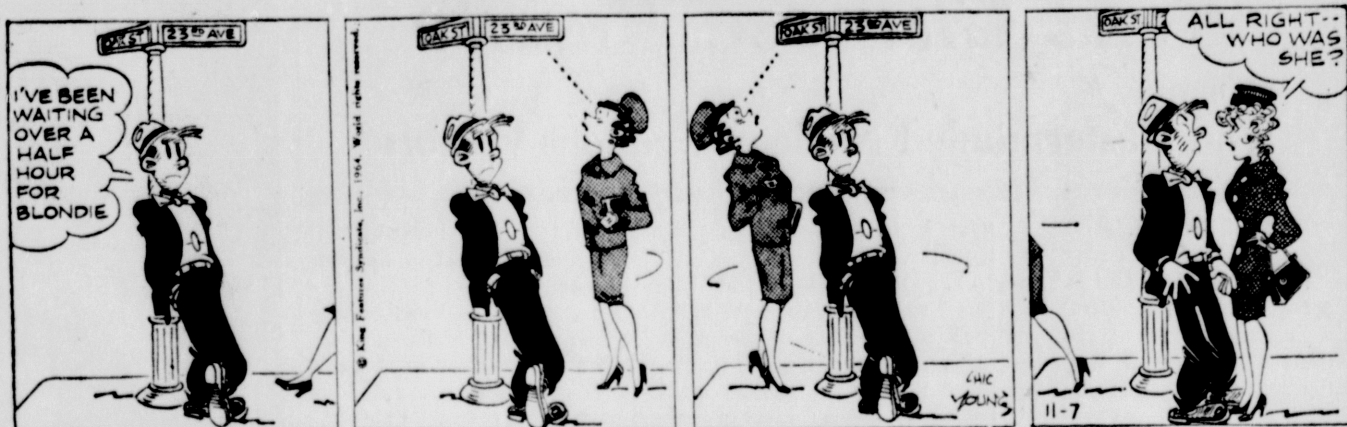

Q. — Is there any way I can remedy a broken coil on my hotplate?
A. — Try hooking the two ends of the break together, putting a pinch of borax on the joint, and turning on the heat. The coil will often weld itself together very nicely.

Q. — Is there anything I can do about old inkstains that have penetrated a wood surface?
A. — These usually call for professional treatment, although you can try rottenstone or finely powdered pumice mixed with raw or boiled linseed oil to a thin paste. Rub this in the direction of the grain, wiping off with another cloth moistened with plain linseed oil, and repeating as often as may be necessary.

Q. — How can I create an old ivory finish on woodwork and furniture?
A. — Tint light ivory paint with raw sienna and burnt umber. After this apply a glaze coat of raw sienna mixed with burnt umber, and then wipe lightly.

Q. — Is there any way I can add luster to my linoleum without waxing it?
A. — One easy way is to add a little sour milk to your rinse water when you are washing the floor.

Real Chinese Puzzle

Who Masterminded Nuclear Weapons Venture?

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—There's a real Chinese puzzle connected with Red China's recent nuclear weapons test: Who were the scientists who masterminded the venture?

The Red Chinese have given no clues, nor have the U.S. State Department or the Atomic Energy Commission.

But there has been considerable speculation in newspaper stories in the United States, Britain and France — with most of the theorizing centering on two men.

These two scientists — whose backgrounds make it very likely they were in on the project — are:

1. Chien San-chiang, who heads the institute of nuclear physics at Peking and who worked in France during World War II on various research studies, including nuclear fission.

2. Hsue-shen Tsien, 55, who spent 20 years in the United States before being deported to Red China on allegations he had been a member of the Communist party before entering this country.

The trouble is, there have been so many variations in the published spelling of the names of this pair that a quick reading of the published reports might make it appear that a whole flock of Chinese scientists had been pinned down as members of the A-bomb cast.

The spellings given here are from the official catalogues of the U.S. Library of Congress — although library experts make no claims that they know these men were in on the A-bomb venture.

Language experts say the confusion stems largely from the fact that in different countries the transliteration of names from one language to another often results in different forms. Phonetics sometimes enters the picture, too; for example "Tsien" and "Chien" stand for the same name in different versions.

Spelling aside, it seems clear that if Hsue-shen Tsien was one of the Red China atom scientists, his American education must have come in handy, particularly if the Red Chinese start attaching nuclear weapons to rockets.

He came to the United States in 1934. He got a master's degree in aeronautical engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and at California Institute of Technology he got his doctorate in 1939 and later took part in government-sponsored rocket research. He became an associate professor at Cal Tech, and was chief research analyst at the famed Jet Propulsion Laboratory there.

He also is reported to have done atomic energy research while in this country.

The scientist consistently denied allegations that he had been a member of the Communist party before coming to the United States. For several years, Washington barred his departure because of his technical knowledge. But the ban was lifted Aug. 4, 1955.

Then, on Sept. 16, 1955, under a deportation order, he sailed away on the President Cleveland for Red China — and conceivably a place on the Red A-bomb team.

Rep. Hays Speaks In France

European Council Told Election Aids Democracy

Rep. Wayne L. Hays told the Consultative Assembly of the Council of Europe in Strasbourg, France, Friday that the "results of the American election should hearten the friends of Democracy in the world and I believe it should be especially comforting to our friends in Western Europe, both those allied with us in NATO and those who are neutral."

Rep. Hays, 18th District Democratic congressman elected to his ninth term in Tuesday's balloting, flew to Europe Wednesday for the appearance before the council as chairman of the foreign affairs subcommittee on State Department organization and foreign operations of the House. He is due to return to Washington over the weekend.

"The American people have overwhelmingly again showed that their good common sense will prevail in spite of appeals to their emotions rather than to their reason."

"I have always had faith in the American voter and it has been reconfirmed in a tidal wave of votes for a sane and sensible foreign policy, for a facing up to the 20th Century, and a complete refusal on the part of our people to hide their collective heads in the sand and pretend the world around them does not exist."

"I would like to report to you on what I believe to be some of the principal implications and consequences of this election. First of all, I regard it as an overwhelming expression of support for our foreign policy, and our domestic policies as well, which have been established and even throughout changes in political administrations."

The re-election of President Johnson should put to rest for a long time the idea that there is a latent majority of Americans who would vote to dismantle the socio-political structure we have built in the last three decades, if presented with an opportunity at the ballot box. Of course, we will always have with us a hard core minority of several million who will try to explain our modern ills and problems by the theory of chronic conspiracy.

New Bolivian Boss To Keep Close To U.S.

By JOSE M. ORLANDO
LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Bolivia's new president says he intends to keep close to the United States, but his three-day-old military regime still awaits recognition from the U.S. government.

"We must keep particularly close relations with the United States," President Rene Barrientos said in an interview. "We hope to obtain recognition soon."

The United States, which has pumped $300 million into poverty-stricken Bolivia in the past 12 years, reportedly has some misgivings over the political upheaval that toppled strongman President Victor Paz Estenssoro. U.S. officials are said to be studying the revolt in which 50 persons were reported killed and 200 wounded.

Venezuela severed diplomatic relations with Bolivia Friday night. As a matter of policy, Caracas refuses to recognize any regime that seizes power by force from a legally elected government.

As calm returned to this capital and other major cities, the 16-man junta scrapped the controversial constitution under which Paz had succeeded himself as president. But popular measures instituted by the former ruler such as nationalization of the tin mines and agrarian and education reforms were kept.

Lisbon Board Will Air Possible Economies

LISBON — Operational cutbacks will be discussed at a meeting of the Lisbon Board of Education Tuesday night at 7:30, which may be necessary as the new operating levy failed at the general election last week.

The board also will discuss water costs at the stadium, student driving during the noon hour, and the resignations of Edwin Bucher and Chester Kennedy.

Placed On Probation

CLEVELAND (AP)—A man charged with embezzling $1,300 from the Federal Housing Administration while serving as a FHA property manager in Youngstown was placed on three years probation Friday by U. S. District Judge James Connell. He is Edwin Walter Wallace, 47, of Youngstown, who pleaded guilty Sept. 25 to taking the money from May 1963 to February 1964.

Lions Hear Minister

Sports Program Seen Benefiting Young People

Sports programs furnish benefits that help set three values for young people, the Rev. Gene H. Toot told the Lions Club Friday afternoon at the Travelers Hotel.

The associate pastor of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church used as his subject, "In Defense of Athletics," and recalled he has been close to sports all his life and at one time expected to become a coach.

Young people between junior high and college totter on the brink between childhood and adulthood, Rev. Toot said, pointing out athletics provide an emotional outlet for both those who play and those who don't.

"Youngsters realize they should control their emotions, but they can't," he declared, pointing out he would prefer youngsters screaming at football or basketball games to those screaming about the Beatles or attending the Ft. Lauderdale beach parties in the spring.

The second value that athletics instills, the minister said, is the desire to excel.

Many believe there is too much emphasis on winning, adding that he realizes it can be abused but does not believe there is too much emphasis.

The desire to excel is one of the bases for success in society. "It's not always the youngsters with the highest IQ's who excel, but youngsters, who perhaps have less ability but have the drive to win, to succeed."

There's also a reverse value in that youngsters playing sports learn how to lose. "They learn how not to let defeat defeat them," Rev. Toot pointed out. "You can't get over a defeat in sports unless you really have the desire to win. Only when you are hurt by defeat, do you grow."

The third value that athletics provides is that youngsters learn to play by the rules and to give themselves for the benefit of their team without counting the cost.

He recalled some examples of athletes who sacrificed themselves for the benefit of their teams, giving up a hero's role in football or refusing a scoring chance in a basketball game because it would provide victory for the team.

"Nothing has been attacked more than football. Everything should be done to make it safe, but if my son wants to play and has the ability he can do so with my blessing," Rev. Toot said.

"Nothing will make a man out of a boy more than football where his nose is rubbed in the dirt, but he has to get up, which seems impossible, and hit the opposing player again with the knowledge it will hurt."

Rev. Toot was introduced by Earl Lones, program chairman.

Donald Duke, first vice president who presided, reminded members the District Cabinet will meet Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex.

John Snively of Minerva, district governor, will preside. Dr. Snively will pay his official visit to the club at Friday's meeting.

Meeting Set Dec. 8-9

U.S. Potters Association Will Meet In Pittsburgh

The U. S. Potters Association today announced preliminary plans for its 86th annual meeting Dec. 8-9 at the Pittsburgh Hilton Hotel.

The first day's session will be highlighted by committee reports, reviewing developments in the industry in 1964 and looking ahead to 1965.

An executive session will mark the second day, concluding with the report of a nominating committee and the election of officers.

The annual banquet will be held the night of Dec. 8. Plans now are being completed for the program, including selection of the speaker, according to Joseph M. Wells of the Homer Laughlin China Co., chairman of the Executive Board.

J. Ross Buchanan of the May-er China Co. at Beaver Falls heads the manufacturers' association. He was named to a full term at the annual meeting in December 1963.

Buchanan has headed the association since August 1963, when he was elevated from the first vice presidency because of the death of W. V. Oliver, president of the French-Saxon China Co. at Sebring.

Fred C. Henderson of the Royal China Co. at Sebring is first vice president; Robert M. Wells of Homer Laughlin is second vice president and Tom Campbell of Poland, Ohio, is associate vice president.

The USPA's third vice presidency is vacant because of the recent death of Everson Hall of the Hall China Co.

Aged Woman Hurt In Fall

An elderly city woman, injured in a fall, was admitted to City Hospital where five other persons were treated Friday.

Mrs. Lillian Smith, 70, wife of Carl Smith of Lisbon St., was in "fair" condition today with an injury of the hip suffered in the fall yesterday morning.

Lloyd Swearingen of Wellsville R.D. 1 was treated for a fractured bone in his right foot suffered when a board fell on him while working at the H. K. Porter Co.

Bruce Williams, 1, son of John Williams, 1515 Dresden Ave., cut his right eyebrow in a fall against a table.

James Rice, 17, son of Roland Rice of Wellsville R.D. 1, ran a thorn into his finger while clearing land along the Old Ironedale Rd.

Yule Tree Growers Elect 2 As Directors

LISBON — Earl Cope of Rogers and Kenneth Cline of Magnolia were elected directors at a meeting of the Eastern Ohio Christmas Tree Growers Association Thursday night at a restaurant near Mt. Union.

Cope and Cline will meet with the holdover directors in January to elect officers for 1965. Elton Beard of New Middleton is president.

James Pandry of Lisbon spoke on research on various types of trees.

The group also discussed marketing expenses, labeling trees as fresh cut Eastern Ohio Growers trees and other matters concerning area growers.

Airman Promoted

LISBON — Terrance J. Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Hughes of E. Lincoln Way, has been promoted to airman second class with the Air Force at Nellis Base, Nev. He is a jet aircraft mechanic in a unit that supports the Tactical Air Command. Hughes is a graduate of David Anderson High School.

After beating Lehigh, 13-0 Penn was blanked in its next two games this fall. Brown beat them 3-0 and Cornell won by 33-0.
